UNITED STATES BANKRUPTCY JUDGE

I. INTRODUCTION

On December 7, 2018, Andrew Childe (the “Foreign Representative” or “Petitioner”) commenced the jointly administered Chapter 15 Cases and sought this Court’s recognition of the joint judicial reorganization (recuperação judicial or “RJ”) of each of the Chapter 15 Debtors in the jointly administered judicial organization proceeding (the “Brazilian RJ Proceeding”) pending in the 1st Business Court of Rio de Janeiro (the “Brazilian RJ Court”) pursuant to Federal Law No. 11.101 of February 9, 2005 (the “Brazilian Bankruptcy Law”) of the laws of the Federative Republic of Brazil (“Brazil”).² (Verified Petition at 7.) The Foreign Representative seeks recognition of the Brazilian RJ Proceeding for each of the Chapter 15 Debtors as either a foreign main proceeding or, in the alternative, as a foreign nonmain proceeding, pursuant to chapter 15 of title 11 of the United States Code, 11 U.S.C. §§ 101-1532 (the “Bankruptcy Code”). The Court must therefore determine the center of main interests (the “COMI”) for each Chapter 15 Debtor in the enterprise group to determine whether—and to what extent—it should grant recognition of the Brazilian RJ Proceeding with respect to each.

When deciding whether to grant recognition of a foreign proceeding, whether as a foreign main or foreign nonmain proceeding, the Court begins with the statutorily prescribed presumption that the COMI of each foreign debtor entity is the place where that entity has its registered office. Of these Chapter 15 Debtors, two have registered offices in Luxembourg, one has a registered office in the Cayman Islands, one has a registered office in Brazil, and six have registered offices in the British Virgin Islands. Because the Foreign Representative seeks recognition of the Brazilian RJ Proceeding as main (or nonmain in the alternative), the Foreign Representative bears the burden of providing sufficient evidence to rebut the registered office presumption for each of the Chapter 15 Debtors that is incorporated outside of Brazil.³

² Childe seeks recognition as the “foreign representative,” as defined in 11 U.S.C. §§ 101(24), 1509, and 1517. There is no dispute that Childe was properly designated as the foreign representative of each Chapter 15 Debtor.

As a broad overview, the Chapter 15 Debtors are members of an integrated enterprise group known as the Constellation Group.⁴ While the Constellation Group is discussed as a group entity at times throughout this opinion's opening sections for context, it is important to bear in mind that the Court's recognition is granted on an individual debtor by debtor basis. The Constellation Group's tripartite business enterprise consists of (i) offshore drilling, (ii) onshore drilling, and (iii) investments in several joint ventures and associated entities related to the operation of floating production storage and offloading units ("FPSOs"). The Chapter 15 Debtors are a subset of the Constellation Group. The ten Chapter 15 Debtors along with their direct and indirect affiliates comprise the Constellation Group ("Constellation Group"), and the Chapter 15 Debtors along with their affiliates that are debtors in the RJ Proceeding are referred to as the RJ Debtors ("RJ Debtors").

The Constellation Group's current financial distress is attributable, in large part, to the cyclical nature of the deepwater drilling market, which entered a sustained down cycle and created a number of major bankruptcies in the sector.⁵ By the time of filing, seven of the Constellation Group's eight offshore drilling rigs were either no longer contracted or soon to come off contracts. As of November 30, 2018, the Constellation Group was liable for ⁴ The United Nations Commission on International Trade Law's Working Group V (Insolvency Law) has met multiple times and issued several updates regarding the drafting of an addition to the Model Law that would apply to and address issues specifically related to enterprise groups. Recent drafts suggest that the enterprise group law will maintain the concept of COMI for each individual enterprise within a group enterprise. Working Group V has defined "enterprise group" as "two or more enterprises that are interconnected by control or significant ownership." See A/CN.9/WG.V/WP.158 Facilitating the cross-border insolvency of enterprise groups: draft legislative provisions, UNCITRAL: Working Group V (Feb. 26, 2018), http://www.uncitral.org/uncitral/en/commission/working_groups/5Insolvency.html.

⁵ Major recent bankruptcies in the industry include Ocean Rig (see In re Ocean Rig UDW Inc., Case No. 17-10736 (Bankr. S.D.N.Y. 2017)), Seadrill (see In re Seadrill Ltd., Case No. 17-60079 (Bankr. S.D. Tex. 2017)), and Pacific Drilling (see In re Pacific Drilling S.A., Case No. 17-13193 (Bankr. S.D.N.Y. 2017)).

approximately US$1.5 billion in aggregate outstanding third-party financial indebtedness (including accrued interest) under four credit facilities and two bond issuances.

On January 29, 2019, Alpertron Capital Ltd. (“Alpertron”), a contingent creditor of one of the ten Chapter 15 Debtors (Constellation Overseas), filed its Limited Objection of Alpertron to the Petition for Recognition of the Brazilian RJ Proceeding. (“Alpertron Objection,” ECF Doc. # 35.) Alpertron’s limited objection contends that the Chapter 15 Debtors “have not satisfied their burden of proof that the location of the Debtors’ [COMI] is in Brazil and Alpertron objects to recognition of the RJ Proceeding as a foreign main proceeding.” (See id. ¶ 8.) In support of the Alpertron Objection, Alpertron submits and incorporates by reference the Declaration of Andrew G. Dietderich, which was filed concurrently therewith. (“Dietderich Decl.,” ECF Doc. # 36.) On February 4, 2019, counsel for Alpertron filed the Second Declaration of Andrew G. Dietderich. (“Second Dietderich Decl.,” ECF Doc. # 44.) Additionally, the Chapter 15 Debtors and Alpertron agreed to a Joint Stipulation of Undisputed Facts, dated February 5, 2019, in lieu of cross-examination of the Debtors’ declarants. (“Stipulation,” ECF Doc. # 46.)

On February 5, 2019, the Court held the hearing on the Chapter 15 Debtors’ Petition (the “Recognition Hearing”). (See “Hr’g Tr.,” ECF Doc. # 59.) At the Recognition Hearing, the Court received evidence and heard oral argument regarding the Verified Petition.⁶ The Court reserved judgment on recognition of the Verified Petition and directed the parties to submit proposed findings of fact and conclusions of law regarding recognition of the Brazilian RJ Proceeding.⁷ (See id. at 74:2-7, 156:11-25.)

⁷ The Foreign Representative’s corrected proposed findings of fact (“FRFOF”) are located at ECF Doc. # 57 and Alpertron’s proposed findings of fact (“Alpertron FOF”) are located at ECF Doc. # 54.

Alperton does not object to recognition of the Brazilian RJ Proceeding as a foreign nonmain proceeding. (Id. at 15:7-11 (“[W]e have no objection to the recognition of the Brazilian RJ as a foreign non-main.”).) Rather, Alperton argues that the COMI for the entire Constellation Group is not in Brazil. (Id. at 15:24–25 (“[W]e believe COMI is not in Brazil for the group.”).) It argues that the “COMI for all ten foreign debtors in the international group is Luxembourg.” (Id. at 96:3-4.) Additionally, Alperton asks that “the Court allow the Brazilian court in the RJ Proceedings the opportunity to decide the question of COMI, and recognize the RJ Proceeding in these Chapter 15 Cases for the time being as either a foreign non-main proceeding or a foreign main proceeding” (Alperton Objection ¶ 9.)⁸

The Brazilian Court of Appeals recently announced a decision to dismiss the RJ Proceeding with respect to two of the Chapter 15 Debtors—Arazi and Olinda Star—and an additional RJ Debtor—Lancaster Projects Corp. The Foreign Representative informed the Court that it intends to seek a clarification of this judgment, implying that the Brazilian Court of Appeals’ dismissal is not final. However, until the Brazilian Courts determine whether the Chapter 15 Debtors Arazi and Olinda Star are proper parties in the Brazilian RJ Proceeding, this Court will not decide whether the proceedings are main or nonmain with respect to them. If any other Chapter 15 Debtors are subsequently dismissed from the Brazilian RJ Proceedings, the Court may modify its present decision regarding recognition respecting those entities pursuant to section 1519(d).

⁸ Alperton also argued at the Recognition Hearing and in its later proposed findings of fact that “[i]n practice, U.S. courts may accord less deference to foreign representatives of foreign nonmain proceedings than they typically accord to representatives of main proceedings under section 1521. Alperton points to no specific provision that requires this Court . . . to provide the Brazilian Proceeding, once recognized as a foreign main proceeding for each Chapter 15 Debtor, with more deference than the Court would provide the Brazilian Proceeding if only recognized as a foreign nonmain proceeding.” (Alperton FOF ¶ 137.) Nonetheless, Alperton goes on to note that it worries that a recognition as a foreign main proceeding “for each of the Chapter 15 Debtors” might prejudice their future rights. This concern seems to be the root of Alperton’s objection.

At the Recognition Hearing the Court also questioned Alperton's standing to object to recognition of any of the Chapter 15 Debtors other than Constellation Overseas, an entity with which it is a contingent creditor based on a pending arbitration claim. (Hr'g Tr. 22:16-19, 23:8-10.) Alperton requested the opportunity to brief the issue, but ultimately conceded that based upon the facts in the record, it did not have standing with respect to any Chapter 15 Debtor other than Constellation Overseas. The Court nonetheless analyzes the evidence and objections to recognition raised by Alperton. This requires the Court to analyze whether a proceeding should be recognized as main, nonmain, or not recognized at all, regardless of whether objections have been raised. See In re Ocean Rig UDW Inc., 570 B.R. at 692 (considering an objecting party's arguments to deny recognition on the merits, even though the Court found the objecting party had failed to establish standing because the Court had an independent obligation to establish that recognition was proper).

The ultimate issue presently before the Court is how to apply the Chapter 15 COMI standards to each Chapter 15 Debtor in a highly interrelated enterprise group whose management and operations are increasingly becoming detached from any specific locale as the business aims towards increased globalization.⁹ For the reasons further discussed below, the Court now grants recognition as a foreign nonmain proceeding for Parent/Constellation, and grants recognition as a foreign main proceeding for Petróleo Constellation, Constellation Overseas, Alpha Star, Gold Star, Lone Star, Star Int'l, and Snover.

⁹ This Court recently recognized a foreign proceeding for a group of debtors in another large, global enterprise group in Agrokor. See In re Agrokor d.d., 591 B.R. 163, 165 (Bankr. 2018). In Agrokor, a parent company and eight debtor affiliates filed for recognition under chapter 15; these debtors were part of a larger group of 77 companies based in Croatia and approximately 80 affiliates not located in Croatia who were all part of the Croatian restructuring proceeding. (Id. at 169.) The Court made it clear that its further discretionary relief, like its recognition of the settlement agreement ultimately reached in that proceeding, was only recognized and enforced with respect to the Chapter 15 entities within the group. (Id. at 197.)

II. BACKGROUND¹⁰

There is a total of ten Chapter 15 Debtors seeking recognition in these consolidated Chapter 15 Cases. The Chapter 15 Debtors (and their countries of incorporation in parenthesis) are: (1) Servicos de Petróleo Constellation S.A. (Brazil), (2) Lone Star Offshore Ltd. (BVI), (3) Gold Star Equities Ltd. (BVI), (4) Olinda Star Ltd. (BVI), (5) Star International Drilling Limited, (Cayman Islands) (6) Alpha Star Equities Ltd. (BVI), (7) Snover International Inc. (BVI), (8) Arazi S.a.r.l. (Luxembourg), (9) Constellation Oil Services Holding S.A. (Luxembourg), and (10) Constellation Overseas Ltd (BVI). (Verified Petition at 1 n.1.)

A. Events Leading Up to the Brazilian RJ Proceeding

The sharp decline in oil prices over recent years led to reduced capital spending and credit as well as an oversupply of rigs in the oil and gas industry. Oil prices began to decline rapidly in mid-2014, eventually reaching less than $30 per barrel in early 2016. (Id. ¶ 24.) As a consequence, exploration and production companies reduced their capital spending, yielding an oversupply in the offshore rig industry and a corresponding decrease in the daily fees earned by each individual drilling unit (referred to as “dayrates” in Parent/Constellation’s notes offering memoranda discussed below) and revenues generated from them. (Id.) Reduced revenues that resulted from reduced dayrates in turn further damaged oil and gas companies by reducing their creditworthiness and restricting their access to the credit markets. (Id.) At roughly the same time as oil prices began plummeting, the Brazilian economy entered a recession. (Id. ¶¶ 24-25.) The recession, political instability, and budget deficits affecting Brazil chilled foreign investments in Brazilian operations. (Id. ¶ 25.)

¹⁰ The Background section includes the Court’s findings of fact pursuant to FED. R. BANKR. P. 7052, which incorporates FED. R. CIV. P. 52.

The Constellation Group's key assets are nine onshore drilling rigs,¹¹ eight offshore rigs and drillships,¹² and five FPSO units¹³ (the "JV FPSOs"). (Id. ¶¶ 8-9.) Of the twenty-two drilling rigs that the Constellation Group owns, twenty were located in Brazil as of the petition date and either served, or had recently served, customers in the Brazilian market under Brazilian law governed contracts. (Id. ¶¶ 9, 62, 69.) This is why the Constellation Group was profoundly affected by the Brazilian market's downturn. As of the petition date, only one of the Constellation Group's nine onshore drilling rigs was under contract and only five of the Constellation Group's eight offshore rigs were under contract. (Id. ¶ 17; see also "Certified Translation of the RJ Petition," ECF Doc. # 7-2, Pet'r Ex. 2 at 39.)¹⁴

The Constellation Group's losses in new investments and lowered dayrates meant that the Constellation Group was no longer able to fund the investments it incurred when the oil market was in an upswing. In 2012, when the price of a barrel of oil had risen to over $125, the Constellation Group, along with much of the industry, experienced tremendous growth and incurred new debt obligations to expand its operations and investments, including the A/L/B Project Financings, which are discussed below and were used to finance the acquisition of the Amaralina Star, Laguna Star, and Brava Star drillships. (Id.) The Constellation Group's

¹³ These include the Capixaba, the Cidade de Paraty, the Cidade de Ilhabela, the Cidade de Marica, and the Cidade de Saquarema. (Verified Petition ¶ 8.)

incurring of greater leverage prior to the oil downturn compounded cash flow issues for the group enterprise.

B. The Parties

1. The Chapter 15 Debtors

Each Chapter 15 Debtor will be described individually in detail in section II.I below. However, a brief overview of the Constellation Group as an enterprise group is discussed first in this overview of the parties. Although the Court must make a COMI determination for each Chapter 15 Debtor individually, shared functions of the group are relevant to that analysis to the extent they exist, and an understanding of the holding structure of the group is also necessary.

a. Structure of the Constellation Group

Parent/Constellation serves as the ultimate parent holding company at the apex of the entire Constellation Group. (Verified Petition ¶ 4 (Organizational Chart).) Parent/Constellation is an entity organized under the laws of Luxembourg with its registered office in Luxembourg, and is the direct or indirect parent to the other nine Chapter 15 Debtors in these Chapter 15 Cases. (Id.)

Parent/Constellation is the indirect parent of the BVI incorporated entity Constellation Overseas. Constellation Overseas, in turn, holds all of the remaining seven Chapter 15 Debtors that presently remain subject to the Brazilian RJ Proceeding. (Id.) Constellation Overseas holds the five BVI incorporated Chapter 15 Debtors, the Cayman Chapter 15 Debtor, and is the indirect parent of Petróleo Constellation, the Brazilian Chapter 15 Debtor. (Id.)

b. Management of the Constellation Group

The Foreign Representative argues that the Constellation Group shares a single senior executive management team. This is supported by the evidence. One of Parent/Constellation's notes offerings, for instance, describes a group of "senior management" who will be "responsible for the day to day management of our operations." ("2019 Offering Memorandum," ECF Doc. #42-1, Pet'r Ex. 4 at 118 (emphasis added); see also 2019 Offering Memorandum at 4 (defining "our" as referring to Parent/Constellation together with its affiliates throughout the document).)¹⁵ The senior management team listed in the 2019 Notes Offering Memorandum consists of a CEO, CFO, COO, Chief FPSO Operations Officer, CCO, Chief Administrative Director, and General Counsel. (Id. at 118.) This group of senior management is listed first in the 2019 Notes Offering Memorandum's section titled "Management," before the document goes on to discuss the board of directors of Parent/Constellation. This objective evidence in the record makes it clear that a senior executive management team does, in fact, govern the operations of the entire enterprise group.

The CEO and the CFO—each described as serving the entire Constellation Group—are based in London and are employed by a non-Chapter 15 Debtor Constellation Oil Services U.K. Ltd. (Stipulation ¶ 4; Verified Petition at 14 n.14.) The CCO, COO and General Counsel are based in Brazil; these Brazilian based individuals exercise their activities from the Chapter 15 Debtor Petróleo Constellation. (Stipulation ¶ 5.) The other two members of the senior management team described in the 2019 Notes Offering Memorandum—the Chief FPSO Operations Officer and the Chief Administrative Director—are not mentioned in the Stipulation. However, both individuals received degrees from Brazilian institutions, had most of their work experience in Brazil, and appeared to be based in Brazil at the time of the issuance of the offering memorandum. (2019 Notes Offering Memorandum at 119.)

The Foreign Representative also argues that the operational and day-to-day management of the entire Constellation Group are predominately conducted from Brazil. (Verified Petition ¶ 63.) This is supported by the Offering Memorandum for the 2019 Notes. It provides, “[w]e are a market leading Brazilian-controlled provider of offshore oil and gas contract drilling and FPSO services in Brazil.” (2019 Notes Offering Memorandum at 15 (emphasis added); see also 2019 Notes Offering Memorandum at 4 (defining “we” as the entire Constellation Group).) Another of Parent/Constellation’s debt documents shows that the Constellation Group’s drilling rigs, which are the primary revenue drivers for the group, were predominately located in Brazil and chartered to Brazilian customer Petrobras. (“Original Exchange Offer Memorandum,” ECF Doc. # 43-1, Pet’r Ex. 6, at 230, 296.) Further evidence of the location of daily operations will be discussed in greater detail with respect to each entity.

c. Employees of the Constellation Group

The Petitioner describes the entire Constellation Group as “employ[ing] over 1,200 individuals, with the vast majority (approximately 93%) located in Brazil.” (Verified Petition ¶ 7.) Although there is a lack of clarity provided by the Foreign Representative regarding which Chapter 15 Debtors employ these individuals, this lack of clarity is echoed in the various offering memoranda of the notes issued by Parent/Constellation. For example, one memorandum states “[w]e employ skilled personnel to operate and provide support for our rigs. As of December 31, 2016, we had a total of 1,885 employees, 99% of which were Brazilian nationals.” (Original Exchange Offer Memorandum at 23 (emphasis added).) Parent/Constellation’s notes offerings all explain that “[t]he terms ‘our company,’ ‘we,’ ‘our,’ or ‘us,’ as used herein, refer to [Parent/Constellation] and its consolidated subsidiaries unless otherwise stated or indicated by context.” (Id. at 6 (emphasis added); see also “Supplemental Exchange Offer Memorandum,” ECF Doc. #42-2, Pet’r Ex. 5 at 3 (including the same quote in the introduction); 2019 Notes Offering Memorandum (also including the same quote in the introduction).)

The Original Exchange Offer Memorandum of Parent/Constellation also explains, “[a]s of December 31, 2016, we had a total of 1,885 employees working across six sites, four of which are located in Brazil and one of which is located in the United Kingdom.” (Original Exchange Offer Memorandum at 123 (emphasis added).) The Original Exchange Offer Memorandum goes on to provide a table with a breakdown of employees of the Constellation Group by location. In 2016, “QGOG-Brazil” employed 1,850 workers across three Brazilian locations, “Constellation Services” employed 16 workers in Brazil, “Constellation Panama Corp.” employed 15 workers in Panama, and “QGOG Constellation UK” employed 4 workers in the United Kingdom. (Id. at 124.) The table makes no reference to any employees located in Luxembourg. (Id.)

2. Alperton

Alperton is a family investment vehicle that entered into a joint venture with Constellation Overseas to build two ultra-deepwater drillships. (See Alperton Objection ¶ 1.) Alperton is a contingent and unliquidated creditor of the Chapter 15 Debtor Constellation Overseas, pending the outcome of arbitration in the United States. (See Hr’g Tr. at 59:4-9, 59:12-14.) Alperton is incorporated in the BVI, but all beneficial owners and/or principals of Alperton are Brazilian citizens and/or residents of Brazil. (Stipulation ¶ 12.)

Pursuant to the joint venture, Alperton and Constellation Overseas established two special purpose offshore holding companies organized under the laws of the BVI, the Amaralina Star Ltd. and Laguna Star Ltd. (together, the “Disputed Companies”). (Alperton Objection ¶ 1.)

Two substantially similar shareholders' agreements governed by New York law (together, the "Shareholders' Agreements" or "SHAs")¹⁶ apply to the Disputed Companies. (Alpertons Objection ¶ 1.) Prior to the events that are subject to the arbitration described below, Constellation Overseas owned 55% and Alpertons owned 45% of each of the Disputed Companies. (Original Exchange Offer Memorandum at 108.)

In addition, the Shareholders' Agreements include covenants relating to the separateness and corporate governance of the Disputed Companies. For example, section 4.8 of each of the Shareholders' Agreements states that each of Constellation Overseas and Alpertons will cause the directors each appoints to act in the best interests of each Disputed Company (as opposed to the best interests of the Constellation Group as a whole). (See "SHA 1," ECF Doc. # 36-1 § 4.8; see also SHA 1 at 1 (defining Company for purposes of the SHA 1); "SHA 2," ECF Doc. #36-2 § 4.8; SHA 2 at 1 (defining Company for purposes of SHA 2.) Furthermore, the SHAs provide that decisions regarding the "corporate reorganization, liquidation or dissolution of either [Disputed Company]," any change in the business¹⁷ of the company, and any investments in other companies are fundamental business decisions that require the unanimous consent of both Alpertons and Constellation. (SHA 1 § 4.9(b); SHA 2 § 4.9(b).)

Although the Disputed Companies are not debtors in these Chapter 15 Cases, the Disputed Companies are RJ Debtors. (Certified Translation of the RJ Petition at 35-36.) Under the PSA (discussed below), the Disputed Companies are "Subsequent Chapter 15 Filing

¹⁶ The Shareholders' Agreements related to the Star Unit I Drilling Vessel (Amaralina Star) and Star Unit II Drilling Vessel (Laguna Star), dated as of June 24, 2010 and as subsequently amended on September 10, 2010, September 28, 2010, November 10, 2011, April 12, 2012 and January 17, 2013 are exhibits to the first Dietderich Declaration. (ECF Doc. ## Nos. 36-1, 36-2.)

¹⁷ The business of each Disputed Company is defined as "(i) the chartering of the Unit to the Charterer under the Charter Contract and the borrowing of the Project Loan from the Project Lenders or (ii) such other business as the Shareholders [Alpertons and Constellation] may agree from time to time in writing." (SHA 1 § 12.1; SHA 2 § 12.1.)

Entities,” which means that they are to be filed as debtors in these Chapter 15 Cases at a later date. (“PSA,” ECF Doc. # 6-1, Pet’r Ex. 1 at 10 (“Subsequent Chapter 15 Filing Entities’ shall mean Amarlina Star Ltd., Laguna Star Ltd. and Brava Star Ltd. and those other Filing Entities that may be included in the Chapter 15 Proceedings . . .”).) The subsequent filing of the Disputed Companies in these Chapter 15 Cases is a mandatory milestone under the PSA. (PSA § 11.01(p)(viii)(C) (located at page 31).)

C. Arbitration Between the Parties

The Shareholders’ Agreements include an arbitration clause, pursuant to which the Shareholders agreed to binding arbitration in New York under the International Chamber of Commerce (the “ICC”) Rules of all disputes, controversies or differences related to the Shareholders’ Agreements. (SHA 1 § 18.2; SHA 2 § 18.2.) As a result of an ongoing dispute between Alpertron and Constellation Overseas, arbitration concerning the joint venture commenced on August 7, 2018 and a panel (the “Tribunal”) was constituted on December 19, 2018. (Alpertron Objection ¶ 3.) The case name and number is Constellation Overseas Ltd. v. Alpertron Capital Ltd., Capinvest Fund Ltd., Universal Investment Fund Ltd., Comercial Perfuradora Delba Baiana Ltda. and Interoil Representação Ltda., International Chamber of Commerce International Court of Arbitration, Case No. 23856/MK (the “Arbitration”). (Id. at 3 n.3.) In the arbitration, Constellation Overseas asserts that a “deadlock” occurred and it is allowed to buyout Alpertron’s interests under the Shareholders’ Agreements. (Id. ¶ 3.) Alpertron asserts that there is no “deadlock,” that Alpertron’s rights as a shareholder have been ignored and that Constellation Overseas committed fraud and overcharged the Disputed Companies by “potentially hundreds of millions of dollars over a multi-year period.”¹⁸ (Id.)

¹⁸ On April 26, 2019, the arbitral Tribunal issued an interim award that prevents Constellation Overseas from taking actions that would effectively destroy Alpertron’s potential interest in the Disputed Companies prior to the

D. Brazilian RJ Proceeding

On December 6, 2018, each of the Chapter 15 Debtors and the RJ Debtors initiated bankruptcy proceedings in Brazil by filing the RJ Petition with the Brazilian Court. (Verified Petition at 8; see also Certified Translation of the RJ Petition at 64.) The RJ Petition requests that the Brazilian Court substantially consolidate the judicial reorganization of the entire group; this request is based upon the support of creditors. (Certified Translation of the RJ Petition ¶ 69.)

The Brazilian Court entered an order formally accepting the RJ Debtors into the Brazilian Proceeding and authorizing the requested “substantial consolidation.” (Id. at 8.) Although the RJ Debtors are being consolidated for the purposes of voting on the RJ Debtors’ plan of reorganization in the RJ Proceeding (the “RJ Plan”), the RJ Plan is not premised on “substantive consolidation,” as that term is used in the United States (i.e., the RJ Plan does not pool all debtors’ assets and liabilities for purposes of pro rata distributions). (“Petitioner’s March 25, 2019 MOL,” ECF Doc. # 72 ¶ 4.) Whether the creditors will, in fact, vote as a group will be put to the vote of the group of creditors; consolidating group voting will not be ordered by the Brazilian court. (“Majority Opinion English Translation,” ECF Doc. # 79-1 at 70.)¹⁹ However, the purpose of this opinion is to determine the COMI of each of the Chapter 15 Debtors and that ultimate resolution of the arbitration. (“Interim Award,” ECF Doc. # 81-1, Neuhaus Decl. Ex. 1.) The Interim Award prevents Constellation Overseas from taking certain actions such as, inter alia, “pledging, transferring or otherwise encumbering [Alpertor’s 45% shareholding in the Disputed Companies] pending a final Award.” (Id. at 50.) Alpertor filed a motion seeking an order granting Alpertor leave to seek relief from the United States District Court for the Southern District of New York confirming and enforcing the Interim Award. (“Alpertor’s Motion for Leave to Seek Confirmation of Interim Award,” ECF Doc. # 80 at 4.) A hearing on that motion is currently scheduled to take place on May 17, 2019.

determination is separate from this Court's decision whether to recognize and enforce any plan that may be approved by creditors and the Brazilian Court in the Brazilian RJ Proceeding. If a future plan is approved in Brazil and includes substantive consolidation of the debtors' assets and liabilities, such that interest owners and creditors of any of the substantively consolidated entities are unfairly diluted, this Court will need to scrutinize whether the plan can be recognized and enforced in the United States consistent with principles of comity.²⁰

Appellate proceedings are still pending in Brazil. Several recent decisions appear to have determined that the Brazilian RJ Proceedings of several of companies within the group must be dismissed because they are not eligible to file within Brazil. On January 28, 2019, Alpertron filed an interlocutory appeal in the Brazilian Proceeding with the Court of Appeals of the State of Rio de Janeiro (the "Brazilian Court of Appeals"). (Hr'g Tr. 132:22-23.) Among other relief, Alpertron requests that the Brazilian Court of Appeals: (i) dismiss the Brazilian Proceeding as it applies to each Disputed Company on the ground that there was no proper corporate authority to file the Disputed Companies (neither of which are Chapter 15 Debtors) in the RJ Proceeding, (ii) enter an order declaring that the Brazilian Court is not competent to process the Brazilian RJ Proceeding as a main proceeding, and (iii) to order the RJ petitioners to produce the ²⁰ These considerations are currently premature as no plan has so far been approved in Brazil. Alpertron has raised the issue of substantive consolidation in Brazil, alleging that it could wipe out Alpertron's equity interest in certain solvent subsidiaries of the group. A plan with such an effect might not be recognized and enforced in the U.S. Cf. Bank of New York v. Treco (In re Treco), 240 F.3d 148 (2d Cir. 2001). The issue in Treco, decided under former section 304, arose because the priority scheme of the foreign jurisdiction differed from the priority scheme in the U.S., with a very substantial impact on the objecting secured U.S. creditor. Importantly, the court made clear that "we begin by recognizing that the priority rules of a foreign jurisdiction need not be identical to those in the United States." Id. The court concluded that "[w]e expect that the case-specific analysis required by section 304 [and now by sections 1507(b)(5) and 1522(a)] will in many cases support the granting of the requested relief." Id. at 161. In other words, deviation from the U.S. priority scheme may be acceptable. See also In re Rede Energia S.A., 515 B.R. 69, 93 (Bankr. S.D.N.Y. 2014) (recognizing and enforcing Brazilian plan that included substantive consolidation and that authorized distributions with priorities that differ from those provided in the U.S. Bankruptcy Code).

documentation required under Brazilian bankruptcy law, which Alperton alleges they have failed to provide the Brazilian Court. (Alperton Objection ¶ 29.) In the alternative, Alperton says that it requests that the Brazilian Court of Appeals overturn the “substantive consolidation order” and separate the Brazilian Proceeding of the Disputed Companies from the Brazilian Proceeding of the other RJ Debtors. (Id.) Alperton also requests that the Brazilian Court of Appeals recognize the primacy of the arbitral Tribunal constituted on December 19, 2018 in New York to resolve the ownership dispute between Alperton and Constellation Overseas and not authorize the consummation of any restructuring that would be irreconcilable with an arbitral award confirming Alperton’s ownership interest in the Disputed Companies. (Id.)

Additionally, the Procuradoria de Justiça do Ministério Público do Estado do Rio de Janeiro (the “Brazilian Public Prosecutor”) filed an appeal challenging the Brazilian Court’s acceptance order, which challenges both the grounds for RJ eligibility for the RJ Debtors incorporated outside of Brazil and the matter of consolidation of the RJ Debtors. (“April 3 Status Update,” ECF Doc. # 73 ¶ 2.)

The Brazilian Court of Appeals held a hearing to rule on the merits of the Brazilian Public Prosecutor’s appeal on March 26, 2019. (Id.) The English Translation of the Brazilian Court of Appeals hearing was filed before the Court. (Majority Opinion English Translation.) In advance of the filing of the English translation resulting from that hearing, the Foreign Representative informed the Court that at the March 26 hearing, the Brazilian Court of Appeals determined that three of the RJ Debtors should be removed from the Brazilian RJ Proceeding. (Id. ¶ 3.)²¹ Two of these RJ Debtors are also Chapter 15 Debtors—Olinda Star and Arazi. Given the Brazilian Court's decision to dismiss Olinda Star and Arazi from the Brazilian RJ Proceedings, it is unnecessary for the Court to determine whether Brazilian proceedings should be recognized with respect to these two Chapter 15 Debtors.

On February 28, 2019, the RJ Debtors filed a revised reorganization plan with the Brazilian RJ Court. ("March 14 Update," ECF Doc. # 60.) The English translation of the Amended and Restated RJ Plan was filed on March 22, 2019. ("Amended and Restated RJ Plan," ECF Doc. # 71-1.) The Foreign Representative is to keep the Court informed of any developments or further amendments to this plan. ("March 22 Update," ECF Doc. # 71.)

On February 13, 2019, the Brazilian RJ Court issued an order scheduling the general meeting of creditors for March 25, 2019 in Rio de Janeiro, Brazil. ("February 19 Update," ECF Doc. # 50.) The Brazilian RJ Court subsequently issued two orders, each further postponing these meetings; currently the first meeting is rescheduled for April 30, 2019 and the adjourned meeting, if necessary, is scheduled for May 9, 2019. ("April 9 Update," ECF Doc. # 74 ¶ 2.)

E. Joint Provisional Liquidators

On December 7, 2018, a subset of the Chapter 15 Debtors which are incorporated in the British Virgin Islands (the "BVI")—(i) Constellation Overseas, (ii) Lone Star, (iii) Gold Star, (iv) Olinda Star, (v) Snover and (vi) Alpha Star (the "BVI Debtors")—each filed an Originating Application and Ordinary Application (the "BVI Applications") in the BVI Commercial Court (the "BVI Court") pursuant to section 170 of the BVI Insolvency Act 2003 seeking the appointment of Eleanor Fisher ("Fisher") of Kalo (Cayman) Limited and Paul Pretlove ("Pretlove") of Kalo (BVI) Limited as Joint Provisional Liquidators for each of the BVI Debtors (such BVI proceedings, the "BVI Proceedings"). (Notice of Change in Status Pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 1518 and 28 U.S.C. § 1746, ECF Doc. # 21, Pet'r Ex. 18.) The BVI Proceedings were commenced to (i) protect the BVI Debtors in that jurisdiction, (ii) provide support to the Brazilian RJ Proceeding pending in the Brazilian RJ Court, and (iii) otherwise ensure the successful and global implementation of the Constellation Group's restructuring. (Id. ¶ 2.) Following a hearing on December 13, 2018, the BVI Court appointed Fisher and Pretlove as Joint Provisional Liquidators over each of the BVI Debtors (as appointed, the "JPLs"). ("BVI JPL Appointment Orders," ECF Doc. # 31-1, Pet'r Ex. 7-11.) The JPLs are conducting the BVI Proceedings as so-called "soft-touch" provisional liquidations in which the JPLs will independently oversee the restructuring of the BVI Debtors while leaving the form and terms of that restructuring to be proposed by the BVI Debtors in the Brazilian RJ Proceeding. (See id. at 27-28 (explaining the Brazilian RJ Debtors' duty to keep the JPL's informed of their continuing management decisions); "JPL Statement in Support," ECF Doc. #31-3, Pet'r Ex. 13 ¶ 1 ("The BVI JPLs are presently conducting the BVI Proceedings as 'soft-touch' proceedings pursuant to the BVI JPL Appointment Orders.").)

The JPLs are officers of the BVI Court whose function is to represent the collective interests of the creditors of each debtor for which they are appointed, in particular by overseeing and protecting from undue dissipation the assets of that debtor and protecting the interests of creditors in the course of restructuring negotiations. ("BVI JPL Appointment Decision," ECF Doc. # 48-1 at 26-27.) In this way, they are a voice for the collective creditors of each BVI Debtor—including Constellation Overseas.

The JPLs support the efforts of the Foreign Representative in obtaining recognition in the United States of the Brazilian RJ Proceeding pursuant to Chapter 15 of the Bankruptcy Code. (JPL Statement in Support ¶¶ 2, 4.) Fisher is based in the Cayman Islands and Pretlove is based in the BVI. ("JPL Protocol," ECF Doc. # 31-2, Pet'r Ex. 12 at 2.) Subject to the JPLs’ oversight and monitoring, and unless ordered otherwise by the BVI Court, Constellation Overseas is “operat[ing] [its] [business] in the ordinary course . . . subject to limitations within the Brazilian RJ Proceeding,” which was commenced prior to the appointment of the JPLs. (JPL Protocol ¶ 2.) “It is the understanding of the BVI JPLs that Brazil is the principal establecimiento or ‘principal place of business’ of the Chapter 15 Debtors’ group for purposes of Brazilian law, and that Brazil is the ‘centre of main interests’ or ‘COMI’ of each of the BVI Debtors for the purposes of U.S. restructuring law.” (JPL Statement in Support ¶ 2.) Further, the JPLs “understand that both the BVI JPL Proceedings and these Chapter 15 Cases were commenced in support of the Chapter 15 Debtors’ global restructuring centered in Brazil [and] the BVI Proceedings are intended to work alongside the Chapter 15 Cases in providing support to the Brazilian RJ Proceeding.” (Id. ¶ 3.)

F. The Constellation Group’s Capital Structure

1. Capital Stock

The Verified Petition contains a single paragraph describing the capital structure of the Constellation Group, which seems to use its defined terms referring Parent/Constellation and the entire Constellation Group interchangeably. (See Verified Petition ¶ 19.) For instance, the Verified Petition begins by providing that the Constellation Group’s controlling shareholder is LUX Oil and Gas International S.a.r.l. (“LuxCo”), an entity organized under the laws of Luxembourg and indirectly wholly-owned by the private equity fund SUN STAR [Fundo de Investimento em Participacoes Multiestrategia Investimento no Exterior] (“SUN STAR”). (Id.)

The next sentence goes on to explain:

As of the RJ Petition Date, LuxCo owned 74.14% of the total capital stock and 75.10% of the voting stock of Constellation, and various holding companies and limited partnerships that are affiliates of and/or ultimately managed by Capital International, Inc. (“Capital”) owned the remaining 25.86% and 24.90% of the Company's total capital and voting stock, respectively.

(Id. (emphasis added).) Notably, while this excerpt begins by discussing the owner of the majority of Parent/Constellation's stock (which is defined as “Constellation” in the Verified Petition), it goes on to discuss the minority owners of the entire Constellation Group's stock (the Constellation Group is defined as the “Company” in the Verified Petition). In doing so, the sentence implicitly presumes that Parent/Constellation and the Constellation Group are equivalent entities (indeed, it combines their stocks to reach 100% ownership for each of capital and voting stock). While these statements may be derivatively true, since Parent/Constellation owns all of the other members of the Constellation Group, meaning the shareholding of one could be equated with the other, the imprecision in this presentation of facts for the purposes of recognition should also be noted.

2. Prepetition Debt Structure

The evidence provided by the Petitioner related to the Chapter 15 Debtors' debt obligations was also presented to the Court predominately in terms of the entire Constellation Group, rather than by each entity. The Verified Petition explains that as of November 30, 2018, the Constellation Group, as a whole, “was liable for approximately $1.5 billion in aggregate outstanding third-party financial indebtedness (including accrued interest) under four credit facilities and two bond issuances (the ‘Prepetition Debt’).” (Id. ¶ 20.) The Prepetition Debt is as follows:

- (a) “secured syndicated credit facility to finance the Amaralina Star and Laguna Star drillships (the ‘A&L Project Loan Facility’) with an aggregate principal amount of $943.9 million entered into with various banks and financial parties and governed by New York law, and secured by mortgages over these drillships, assignments of certain receivables, and other collateral” (Verified Petition ¶ 20); Amaralina Star Ltd. and Laguna Star Ltd. (i.e. the Disputed Companies, both of which are Brazilian RJ Debtors) were the initial borrowers (PSA at 6 (discussed as part of the definition of Credit Agreements under the PSA)); Parent/Constellation is now a guarantor of this debt (Stipulation ¶ 8);

(b) “secured syndicated credit facility to finance the Brava Star drillship (the ‘Brava Project Loan Facility’ and, together with the A&L Project Loan Facility, the ‘A/L/B Project Financings’) with an aggregate principal amount of $475 million entered into with various banks and financial parties and governed by New York law, and secured by a mortgage over the Brava Star, assignments of certain receivables, and other collateral” (Verified Petition ¶ 20); Brava Star Ltd., the borrower (PSA at 6), is a Brazilian RJ Debtor; Parent/Constellation is now a guarantor of this debt (Stipulation ¶ 8);

(c) 6.25% senior unsecured notes due November 2019 (the “2019 Notes”) issued by Parent/Constellation in an aggregate principal amount outstanding of $95,432,000 under a New York law-governed indenture²² (Verified Petition ¶ 20);

(d) 9.00% Cash/0.500% PIK senior secured notes due 2024 (the “2024 Notes”) issued by Parent/Constellation in an aggregate principal amount outstanding of $604,568,000 under a New York law-governed indenture, and secured by mortgages over “certain of the Offshore Drilling Rigs,” pledges on “certain accounts,” and “other collateral” (Verified Petition ¶ 20)²³; and

(e) two unsecured working capital facilities under which Banco Bradesco S.A., Grand Cayman Branch (“Bradesco”) made available advances in principal amount of up to $150 million (the “Bradesco I Working Capital Facility”) and $75 million (the “Bradesco II Working Capital Facility” and, together with the Bradesco I Working Capital Facility, the “Bradesco Working Capital Facilities”), respectively, and which are governed by New York law. (Verified Petition ¶ 20.) Constellation Overseas was the borrower and Parent/Constellation became a guarantor of the Bradesco Working Capital Facilities. (PSA at 4.)

The 2024 Notes were the result of negotiations and two separate offering memoranda—the Original Exchange Offer Memorandum and the Supplemental Exchange Offer Memorandum. Parent/Constellation’s noteholders rejected the exchange as proposed in the Original Exchange Offer Memorandum and an ad hoc group of holders formed (the “2019 Group”) to seek better terms for new notes. (Verified Petition ¶ 26.) Following multiple rounds of negotiations, Parent/Constellation issued the Supplemental Exchange Offer Memorandum setting forth the revised terms of the 2024 Notes, including changes to interest rates, guarantees, security, disclosures, and covenants. (Id. ¶ 26; see also Supplemental Exchange Offer Memorandum at 10-17.) The Supplemental Exchange Offer Memorandum updated and amended the Original Exchange Offer Memorandum with the terms set forth therein, and otherwise maintained the terms of the Original Exchange Offer Memorandum, which were not modified. (Supplemental Exchange Offer Memorandum at 2 (“[E]xcept as set forth herein, the contents of the Offering Memorandum, including the terms of the Exchange Offer and Consent Solicitation, remain as set forth therein.”).) The noteholders accepted this revised exchange offer, which ultimately exchanged 86.4% of Parent/Constellation’s 2019 Notes for an equal aggregate principal amount of the 2024 Notes. (See Verified Petition ¶ 26.)

Unfortunately, the maturity extensions achieved by the exchange were not sufficient to solve all of the Constellation Group’s financial issues. (Id. ¶ 27.) Thus, in the months leading up to the commencement of the Brazilian RJ Proceeding, the Constellation Group sought to obtain a comprehensive restructuring of its debt obligations. Those restructurings ultimately resulted in the PSA. Under the PSA, the Constellation Group essentially entered the Brazilian RJ Proceeding with a pre-negotiated restructuring deal. (Id. ¶ 31.) On November 29, 2018, (i) 16 entities in the Constellation Group (including all Chapter 15 Debtors), (ii) the shareholders of the Constellation Group, (iii) 97.5% of the A/L/B Lenders (the “Consenting A/L/B Lenders”), and (iv) Bradesco entered into the PSA. (PSA at 2.)

In another example of entity blurring, the Verified Petition explains the terms of the PSA as:

Consenting A/L/B Lenders have agreed to re-lend approximately $39 million in funds that were escrowed in August and September of 2018, Bradesco agreed to provide a $15 million letter of credit, and the shareholders agreed to invest $27 million of new money at closing, all to ensure that the Constellation Group had ample liquidity to survive a prolonged downturn in the market post-restructuring.

(Id. ¶ 31.) Notably, the Verified Petition does not clarify the specific entities or accounts that received access to funds or letters of credit through the PSA. Again, the Petitioner presented the evidence to the Court in terms of the Constellation Group as a whole.

Alperton also noted several provisions in the PSA that affect their potential interests in the Disputed Companies. (See Alperton FOF ¶ 32.) The PSA provides for cross-collateralizing the Brava Project Loan Facility and the A&L Project Loan Facility. (See PSA at 54-63 (Schedule 1).) If performed in accordance with its terms, the PSA would provide lenders under the Brava Project Loan Facility with liens on each of the Amaralina Star and Laguna Star vessels and a pledge on 100% of the shares of each of Laguna Star Ltd. and Amaralina Star Ltd. (Id.)

The PSA requires as a condition precedent to the implementation of the restructuring transactions that the Chapter 15 Debtors (and later another group of the RJ Debtors) receive an order from this Court granting recognition of the Brazilian RJ Proceeding with respect to those entities. (Verified Petition ¶ 31; see also PSA at 8 (defining the Chapter 15 Debtors as the Initial Chapter 15 Filing Entities); see also PSA at 9 (defining the Subsequent Chapter 15 Filing Entities).)

In parallel with the negotiations towards the PSA, the Constellation Group also engaged in negotiations with Bradesco that led to Parent/Constellation becoming a guarantor of Constellation Overseas debt. Specifically, Bradesco agreed to several extensions of the final maturity payments under the Bradesco Working Capital Facilities in exchange for, inter alia, Parent/Constellation becoming a guarantor for the obligations of Constellation Overseas under the Bradesco Working Capital Facilities. (Verified Petition ¶ 29; see also Verified Petition at 24 n.22.)

G. Galdino Declaration on Brazilian Bankruptcy Law

Flavio Galdino, counsel for the Constellation Group in the Brazilian Proceeding, provided a declaration pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 1746. (“Galdino Declaration,” ECF Doc. # 4, Pet’r Ex. 15.) Galdino declares that “Brazil has not adopted the UNCITRAL Model Law on Cross-Border Insolvency and currently has no statutory definition of center of main interests (‘COMI’) for the purposes of establishing the competent country of jurisdiction for the main insolvency proceedings either of a company or of a group of companies.” (Id. ¶ 9.) According to Galdino, under Brazilian law, “[a]n entity commences an RJ by filing a petition with the business court (the ‘RJ Court’) in the jurisdiction in which it maintains its principal place of business” (Id. ¶ 8.) Galdino further explains that the Brazilian Court’s jurisdictional requirement is referred to as principal estabelecimento, and Brazilian Court’s must find that a debtor or group of debtors have their principal estabelecimento in Brazil. (Id. ¶ 9.) That said, he also explains that principal estabelecimento is interpreted broadly and that the RJ Court can focus on either the location of a debtor’s assets and operations or on the location of management and decision makers. (Id. ¶ 10.)

With respect to what Galdino refers to as “substantive consolidation” as it is “referred to in the United States,” Galdino notes that while some RJ Courts have allowed substantive consolidation, “[w]hether a court will allow substantive consolidation is a fact-intensive determination heavily dependent upon the nature of the relationship among the affiliated debtors and any interrelated debt subject to restructuring.” (Id. ¶ 12.)

Alperton's Proposed Findings of Fact highlights this portion of the Galdino Declaration and emphasizes that substantive consolidation of creditors for negotiation and voting on a single plan has, in fact, been allowed in Brazil and could be allowed here. (Alperton FOF ¶ 38.) However, the Court emphasizes that this opinion will only determine recognition of the proceedings; the decisions reached in this opinion do not assure that further discretionary relief will follow—such as this Court's recognition and enforcement of any plan that may be approved in Brazil. Indeed, ample precedent dictates that the Court may refuse to recognize and enforce a plan if approval was obtained by an unfair voting system, even when the plan is approved in a country that usually enjoys comity from the United States. See, e.g., Ad Hoc Grp. of Vitro Noteholders v. Vitro S.A.B. de C.V. (In re Vitro S.A.B. de C.V.), 701 F.3d 1031 (5th Cir. 2012); In re Cozumel Caribe, S.A. de C.V., 482 B.R. 96, 108-113 (Bankr. S.D.N.Y. 2012).

H. Analysis of Individual Chapter 15 Debtors

1. Parent/Constellation

Parent/Constellation is a tax resident of Luxembourg with its central administration in Luxembourg as a matter of Luxembourg tax law. (Stipulation ¶ 7.) Parent/Constellation is a holding and financing company that owns equity interests in subsidiaries in the Constellation Group and engages in the necessary activities for borrowing and guaranteeing debt. (Verified Petition ¶ 75.) The Court finds that Parent/Constellation's registered office is in Luxembourg.

Parent/Constellation's board of directors is composed of six members. (Stipulation ¶ 1.) Three directors are residents and citizens of Brazil; two are residents and citizens of Luxembourg; and one is a resident and citizen of Switzerland. (Id.) Parent/Constellation holds its board of directors' meetings and shareholder meetings in Luxembourg, as required for companies incorporated under Luxembourg law. (Stipulation ¶ 6; Hr'g Tr. 50: 6-10.) The Original Exchange Offer Memorandum states, "[i]n accordance with Luxembourg law, [Parent/Constellation's] Board of Directors is the sole responsible body for managing [Parent/Constellation and its consolidated subsidiaries'] affairs and ensuring that [Parent/Constellation and its consolidated subsidiaries'] operations are organized in a satisfactory manner.” (Original Exchange Offer Memorandum at 131.) The 2019 Notes Offering Memorandum further states that Parent/Constellation's “Board of Directors is empowered to take any action necessary or desirable for carrying out [its] corporate objective, except for the powers specifically allocated to the general meeting of [its] shareholders by Luxembourg law and/or by [its] Articles.” (2019 Notes Offering Memorandum at 121.) The Court finds that Parent/Constellation's management is located in Luxembourg, where the board of directors conducts business.

As a holding company, Parent/Constellation does not have any assets other than its ownership interests in its subsidiaries. (Id. at 39.) The 2019 Notes Offering Memorandum explains: “The issuer is a holding company, and all of its assets are held by its direct and indirect subsidiaries.” (Id.) The Supplemental Exchange Offering Memorandum describes Parent/Constellation's operations by explaining, “[Parent/Constellation] is incorporated in the laws of the Grand Duchy of Luxembourg, and [Parent/Constellation] conducts most of its business from Brazil.” (Supplemental Exchange Offering Memorandum at 21 (emphasis added).) The Original Exchange Offer Memorandum states, “[t]he issuer is a holding company with no independent operations or assets and it is dependent on cash flow generated by its subsidiaries.” (Original Exchange Offer Memorandum at 53.) It goes on to explain, “[r]epayment of our indebtedness, including the New Notes, is dependent on the generation of cash flow by our subsidiaries and their ability to make such cash available to us, by dividend, debt repayment or otherwise.” (Id.) Parent/Constellation's key indirect assets are its drilling rigs, which, with the exception of the Olinda Star and one of its onshore drilling rigs, were all located in Brazil as of the Petition Date. (Verified Petition ¶¶ 9, 14-18.) At the Hearing, Alperton suggested that, as of the Petition Date, several of the drilling rigs were operating on the high seas and were not located in Brazil. (Hr'g Tr. 108:18-24.) However, the evidence in the record demonstrates that 20 of the 22 drilling rigs were located in Brazil as of the petition date; the two that were not in Brazil were in India and Paraguay. (Verified Petition ¶¶ 9, 14-18; see also Certified Translation of the RJ Petition at 39.) The Verified Petition explains: "The Offshore Drilling Rigs and Onshore Drilling Rigs are the Company's primary operating assets. Seven of the eight Offshore Drilling Rigs are presently located in Brazil, eight of its nine Onshore Drilling Rigs are located in Brazil, and all of the JV FPSO Units in which it holds an interest are located in Brazil." (Verified Petition ¶ 9.) Based on the foregoing evidence, the Court finds that Parent/Constellation's assets are primarily located in Brazil.

Parent/Constellation has no officers. (2019 Offering Memorandum at 118 ("There are no statutory officers under Luxembourg law . . . members of senior management set forth below currently serve as senior managers of QGOG and will be responsible for the day-to-day management of our operations.") (emphasis added); see also Stipulation ¶¶ 4-5.)

Parent/Constellation makes use of the Constellation Group's shared corporate management team, its operational management team, and its employees, who are employed by Parent/Constellation's direct or indirect subsidiaries. As discussed above, the shared corporate management team are located in both London and Brazil. The court finds that the location of executive management team of Parent/Constellation is split between London and Brazil.

Parent/Constellation is the issuer of the 2019 Notes and the 2024 Notes; it is also guarantor of the A/L/B Project Financings and guarantor of the Bradesco Working Capital Facilities. (Stipulation ¶¶ 8-11.) The indenture trustees of the 2019 Notes and the 2024 Notes are located in New York and there is no evidence in the record regarding the location of the beneficial holders of the 2019 Notes and 2024 Notes, other than a holder of 2019 Notes that is a Brazilian national located in New York. (See “Noteholder Letter,” ECF Doc. # 38.) There is no evidence in the record that any of Parent/Constellation’s creditors are located in Luxembourg or Brazil. (See “Notice List,” ECF Doc. # 7-6 at 8-9.) As such, the Court finds that the location of most of Parent/Constellation’s creditors is indeterminate.

The Supplemental Exchange Offer states:

The Company [defined to be the issuer, Parent/Constellation]²⁴ and Arazi are incorporated under the laws of Luxembourg, and as such, any insolvency proceedings applicable to them are in principle governed by Luxembourg law.

(Supplemental Exchange Offer Memorandum at 21.) Further, the Supplemental Exchange Offer explains that the section titled “Certain Luxembourg Insolvency Law Considerations” in the 2019 Notes Offering Memorandum should be read as applicable to “both the Company and Arazi.” (Supplemental Exchange Offer Memorandum at 22.) The Supplemental Exchange Offer Memorandum also explicitly explains to investors that restructuring proceedings could be commenced in Brazil due to the Constellation Group’s significant ties there, stating:

[I]n the event of any bankruptcy, insolvency, liquidation, dissolution, reorganization or similar proceedings involving us or any of our subsidiaries, bankruptcy laws other than those of the United States could apply. . . . [I]n the event that we do experience financial difficulty, it is not possible to predict with certainty in which jurisdiction insolvency proceedings would be commenced or the outcome of such proceedings, but it may include, among other jurisdictions, Brazil, where certain decisions of the Company²⁵ are made, certain members of the Company's management are located and the location of substantially all of the Company's business is conducted (and, therefore, from which substantially all of the operating revenues that may be available to service the Company's obligations under the New Notes are currently derived).

The Supplemental Exchange Offer Memorandum further explains risks associated with Brazilian insolvency proceedings:

In Brazil, the right of the Collateral Trustee to repossess and dispose of the Collateral securing the New Notes upon acceleration may be significantly impaired by applicable bankruptcy law if bankruptcy proceedings were commenced by or against the issuer or the Subsidiary Guarantors prior to or possibly even after the time that the Collateral Trustee repossesses and disposes of the Collateral. In the event of a cross-border insolvency, Brazilian courts may impair the seizure of the Drilling Rigs located in Brazil, in order to protect the business activities in Brazil and/or ensure the payment of the relevant debt in accordance with Brazilian laws.

In addition, in case of judicial reorganization or liquidation under Brazilian law, it is impossible to estimate the period that payments under the New Notes could be delayed following commencement of a bankruptcy proceeding. With respect to the judicial reorganization, the debtor may continue to retain and to use the collateral and the proceeds, products, rents or profits therefrom. The judicial reorganization proceeding binds all pre-filing secured debts, even those not yet due, and they will be paid in accordance with the restructuring plan submitted by the debtor, which must be approved by the majority of creditors in a creditors' meeting and, subsequently, ratified by the Brazilian court. In certain circumstances, the Brazilian bankruptcy law also grants the debtor the possibility to cram down the plan. The reorganization plan results in the replacement and renewal of all debts existing prior to the filing of the reorganization, and is binding on the debtor and all creditors subject to it.

In relation to a bankruptcy proceeding, the Collateral Trustee is prohibited from repossessing or disposing of the Collateral securing the New Notes because all assets of the debtor, including the Collateral, will be sold in order to pay the creditors according to the priority order established in the Brazilian bankruptcy law. Secured debt have priority in the ranking and are paid just after labors' claims, up to the amount of the Collateral. Any shortfall will be classified as "unsecured debt".

(Id.)

The Court therefore finds that the objective indicia of Parent/Constellation's creditors' expectations of an insolvency proceeding's location could be in either Brazil or Luxembourg. However, unlike Parent/Constellation's subsidiaries, Parent/Constellation is the original issuer of both the 2019 and 2024 Notes. Even though the memoranda for these notes frequently discusses the entire Constellation Group, which it refers to as "we," "us," etc., this does not change the fact that the issuer listed at the beginning of each of the notes is described as a public limited liability company incorporated in the Grand Duchy of Luxembourg. (See 2019 Notes Offering Memorandum at 3; Original Exchange Offer Memorandum at 2; Supplemental Exchange Offer Memorandum at 2.) As such, the Court finds that the objective expectations of creditors with respect to Parent/Constellation's COMI should be determined to be predominately in Luxembourg.

New York law is the governing law of all of the Prepetition Debt of the Constellation Group, which Parent/Constellation either issued or now guarantees. (Verified Petition ¶ 20; Alpertone FOF ¶ 62.) Alpertone asserts that New York is the jurisdiction whose law would apply to most of Parent/Constellation's disputes. (Alpertone FOF ¶ 101.) The documentation relevant to all prepetition debt is in English. While there is no evidence in the record of a current dispute about Luxembourg law, Luxembourg law is an unavoidable part of the reorganization for Parent/Constellation, because Luxembourg law will determine, inter alia: (i) the fiduciary duties applicable to Parent/Constellation's board, (ii) the extent to which foreign proceedings outside Luxembourg are consistent or inconsistent with these fiduciary duties, and (iii) the authority for and validity of any actions taken by Parent/Constellation under corporate law. (Alperton FOF ¶ 102.) The Court therefore determines that while many countries laws could govern the range of feasible disputes that Parent/Constellation could be involved in, Luxembourg law should be considered the most relevant law governing Parent/Constellation's disputes for purposes of the COMI determination.

2. Alpha Star

Chapter 15 Debtors Alpha Star, Gold Star, Olinda Star, Lone Star, and Star Int'l are the offshore rig owners ("Offshore Rig Owner Debtors"). (Verified Petition at 13.) Alpha Star owns the Alpha Star offshore drilling rig, which is not presently under contract and is being maintained in a shipyard in Brazil. (Id. ¶¶ 9, 14.) The Alpha Star is classified as capable of ultra-deepwater drilling. (Certified Translation of the RJ Petition at 38.)

Alpha Star is organized under the laws of the BVI; it maintains its registered office in the BVI. (Verified Petition ¶ 73.) The sole director of Alpha Star is Michael Pearson, a citizen of the United Kingdom, who resides in the Cayman Islands. (Stipulation ¶ 2.)

The Alpha Star's offshore rig is operated and maintained by Chapter 15 Debtor Petr leo Constellation and other Brazilian subsidiaries pursuant to operating and maintenance agreements, through its operational management team and operational staff located in the Brazilian offices. (Verified Petition ¶ 70.) The Original Exchange Offer Memorandum explains that QGOG (which is the former name of Chapter 15 Debtor Petr leo Constellation)²⁶ agreed to manage, be technically responsible for, and/or perform the activities and works of maintenance necessary to maintain and preserve Alpha Star and all its parts, components, and equipment. (Original Exchange Offer Memorandum at 118.) The operations of Alpha Star are therefore predominately in Brazil.

Alpha Star is a guarantor of the 2024 Notes issued by Parent/Constellation. (Stipulation ¶ 10.) The indenture trustees of the 2024 Notes are in New York. Otherwise, there is no evidence in the record regarding the location of the beneficial holders of the 2024 Notes.

The expectations of the creditors of the 2024 Notes, the key creditor constituency of the offshore drilling rigs, may be objectively determinable by reference to the offering memoranda related to the 2024 notes. The initial offering document described the Constellation Group by explaining “[w]e are a market leading provider of offshore oil and gas contract drilling and FPSO services in Brazil.” (Original Exchange Offer Memorandum at 20.) The overview section of the document further explains “[i]n particular, we believe that we are well positioned to benefit from the ultra-deepwater drilling activity in Brazil” (Id.) Since Alpha Star owns an ultra-deepwater rig, this would have put 2024 Note purchasers on notice that Alpha Star was not only located in Brazil, but also had its future operations in Brazil. Indeed, a map provided in the same document shows that Alpha Star is located off the coast of Brazil. (Id. at 108.) The document states that all of the Offshore Drilling Rigs other than Olinda Star are under charter contracts with Petrobras. (Id.) Finally, the offering expressly refers several times to the chartering and operations of the offshore drilling rigs, explaining that those rigs operated “mainly in Brazil” and were currently chartered “mainly to [Petrobras].” (Id. at 230, 296.)

The Supplemental Exchange Offer to the Original Exchange Offer Memorandum conveys to the holders of the 2024 Notes that insolvency proceedings may be commenced in Brazil and explains the consequences that a Brazilian restructuring or liquidation proceeding

could have on their ability to enforce their collateral, including the mortgages granted to them over the offshore drilling rigs. (Supplemental Exchange Offer Memorandum at 21 (describing Brazil as the location “from which substantially all of the operating revenues that may be available to service [Parent/Constellation’s] obligations under the New Notes are currently derived.”).)

The Supplemental Exchange Offer Memorandum also contains evidence of the laws applicable to Alpha Star and other rigs. For example, because the Alpha Star rig is in Brazil, the arrest and seizure of the rig would take place under Brazilian law and require a judicial order issued by a Brazilian Court. (Id. at 22.) The same paragraph explains that there could be third-party claims under maritime liens such as ports and maritime costs and taxes; seamen’s wages; salvage and general average; repairs, supplies and necessities contracted outside the mortgaged drilling rigs’ home port; collision and tort liens; and simple and general damages to the drilling rigs. (Id.)

The JPLs have been appointed with respect to each of Lone Star, Gold Star, Olinda Star, and Alpha Star, and function to protect the interests of the collective creditors of each. (JPL Statement in Support ¶ 2.) They have expressed support for the Brazilian RJ Proceeding and for a finding of COMI in Brazil for each of these BVI Debtors. (Id.)

3. Gold Star

Gold Star is an offshore rig owner organized under the laws of the BVI and maintains its registered office in the BVI. (Verified Petition ¶ 73.) The sole director is Michael Pearson, a citizen of the United Kingdom, who resides in the Cayman Islands. (Stipulation ¶ 2.) Gold Star owns the Gold Star offshore drilling rig, which is not presently under contract and is being maintained in a shipyard in Brazil. (Verified Petition ¶¶ 9, 14.) The Gold Star is classified as capable of ultra-deepwater drilling. (Certified Translation of the RJ Petition at 38.)

The Gold Star's offshore rig is operated and maintained by Chapter 15 Debtor Petróleo Constellation and other Brazilian subsidiaries pursuant to operating and maintenance agreements, through its operational management team and operational staff located in the Brazilian Offices. (Verified Petition ¶ 70.) The Original Exchange Offer Memorandum explains that QGOG (defined as one of "our Brazilian subsidiaries" on page 17 of the Original Exchange Offer Memorandum) agreed to manage, be technically responsible for, and/or perform the activities and works of maintenance necessary to maintain and preserve Gold Star and all its parts, components, and equipment. (Original Exchange Offer Memorandum at 118.)

Gold Star is a guarantor of the 2024 Notes issued by Parent/Constellation. (Stipulation ¶ 10.) The indenture trustees of the 2024 Notes are located in New York; otherwise, there is no evidence in the record regarding the location of the beneficial holders of the 2024 Notes.

The expectations of the creditors of the 2024 Notes, the key creditor constituency of the offshore drilling rigs, may be objectively determinable by reference to the offering memoranda related to the 2024 notes. The Original Exchange Offer Memorandum describes the Constellation Group as "[w]e are a market leading provider of offshore oil and gas contract drilling and FPSO services in Brazil." (Original Exchange Offer Memorandum at 20.) Additionally, the overview paragraph states "[i]n particular, we believe that we are well positioned to benefit from the ultra-deepwater drilling activity in Brazil" (Id.) Since Gold Star owns an ultra-deepwater rig, this would have put 2024 Note purchasers on notice that Gold Star was not only located in Brazil, but had its future operations in Brazil. Indeed, a map provided in the Original Exchange Offer Memorandum shows that Gold Star is located off the coast of Brazil. (Id. at 108.) The same page of the document states that all the offshore drilling rigs other than Olinda Star are under charter contracts with Petrobras. (Id.) Finally, the Original Exchange Offer Memorandum expressly refers several times to the chartering and operations of the offshore drilling rigs, explaining that those rigs operate mainly in Brazil and were currently chartered “mainly to [Petrobras].” (Id. at 230, 296.)

The Supplemental Exchange Offer to the Original Exchange Offer Memorandum conveys to the holders of the 2024 Notes that insolvency proceedings may be commenced in Brazil and explains the consequences that a Brazilian restructuring or liquidation proceeding could have on their ability to enforce their collateral, including the mortgages granted to them over the offshore drilling rigs. (Supplemental Exchange Offer Memorandum at 21 (describing Brazil as the location “from which substantially all of the operating revenues that may be available to service [Parent/Constellation’s] obligations under the New Notes are currently derived.”).)

The Supplemental Exchange Offer Memorandum also contains evidence of the laws applicable to Gold Star and other rigs. For example, because the Gold Star rig is in Brazil, the arrest and seizure of the rig would take place under Brazilian law and require a judicial order issued by a Brazilian Court. (Id. at 22.) The same paragraph explains that there could be third-party claims under maritime liens such as ports and maritime costs and taxes; seamen’s wages; salvage and general average; repairs, supplies and necessities contracted outside the mortgaged drilling rigs’ home port; collision and tort liens; and simple and general damages to the drilling rigs. (Id.)

The JPLs have been appointed with respect to each of Lone Star, Gold Star, Olinda Star, and Alpha Star, and function to protect the interests of the collective creditors of each. (FRFOF

¶ 79.) They have expressed support for the Brazilian RJ Proceeding and for a finding of COMI in Brazil for each of these BVI Debtors. (FRFOF ¶ 79.)

4. Olinda Star

The Brazilian Court of Appeals determined that Olinda Star should be removed from the Brazilian RJ Proceeding. Thus, discussion of this Chapter 15 Debtor's possible recognition is unnecessary.

5. Lone Star

Lone Star is an offshore rig owner organized under the laws of the BVI and maintains its registered office in the BVI. (Verified Petition ¶ 73.) The sole director is Michael Pearson, a citizen of the United Kingdom, who resides in the Cayman Islands. (Stipulation ¶ 2.) Lone Star owns the Lone Star offshore drilling rig, which is not presently under contract and is being maintained in a shipyard in Brazil. (Verified Petition ¶¶ 9, 14.) The Lone Star rig is classified as capable of ultra-deepwater drilling. (Certified Translation of the RJ Petition at 38.)

The Lone Star's offshore rig is operated and maintained by Chapter 15 Debtor Petróleo Constellation and other Brazilian subsidiaries pursuant to operating and maintenance agreements, through its operational management team and operational staff located in the Brazilian Offices. (Verified Petition ¶ 70.) The Original Exchange Offer Memorandum explains that QGOG (defined as one of "our Brazilian subsidiaries" on page 17 of the Original Exchange Offer Memorandum) agreed to manage, be technically responsible for, and/or perform the activities and works of maintenance necessary to maintain and preserve Lone Star and all its parts, components, and equipment. (Original Exchange Offer Memorandum at 118.)

Lone Star is a guarantor of the 2024 Notes issued by Parent/Constellation. (Stipulation ¶ 10.) The indenture trustees of the 2024 Notes are located in New York; otherwise, there is no evidence in the record regarding the location of the beneficial holders of the 2024 Notes. The expectations of the creditors of the 2024 Notes, the key creditor constituency of the offshore drilling rigs, may be considered to be objectively determinable by reference to the offering memoranda related to the 2024 notes. The Original Exchange Offer Memorandum explains the Constellation Group, as a whole, as “[w]e are a market leading provider of offshore oil and gas contract drilling and FPSO services in Brazil.” (Original Exchange Offer Memorandum at 20.) Additionally, the overview paragraph states “[i]n particular, we believe that we are well positioned to benefit from the ultra-deepwater drilling activity in Brazil” (Id.) Since Lone Star owns an ultra-deepwater rig, this would have put 2024 Note purchasers on notice that a rig like Lone Star was not only located in Brazil but had its future operations in Brazil. Indeed, a map provided in the Original Exchange Offer Memorandum shows that Lone Star is located off of the coast of Brazil. (Id. at 108.) The same page of the document states that all of the offshore drilling rigs other than Olinda Star are under charter contracts with Petrobras. (Id.) Finally, the Original Exchange Offer Memorandum expressly refers several times to the chartering and operations of the offshore drilling rigs, explaining that those rigs operate “mainly in Brazil” and were currently chartered “mainly to [Petrobras].” (Id. at 230, 296.)

The Supplemental Exchange Offer to the Original Exchange Offer expressly conveys to the holders of the 2024 Notes that insolvency proceedings may be commenced in Brazil and explains the consequences that a Brazilian restructuring or liquidation proceeding could have on their ability to enforce their collateral, including the mortgages granted to them over the offshore drilling rigs. (Supplemental Exchange Offer at 21 (describing Brazil as “the location . . . from which substantially all of the operating revenues that may be available to service the Company's obligations under the New Notes are currently derived."").)

The Supplemental Exchange Offer also contains evidence of the laws applicable to Lone Star and other rigs. For example, because the Lone Star rig is in Brazil, the arrest and seizure of the rig would take place under Brazilian law and require a judicial order issued by a Brazilian Court. (Id. at 22.) The same paragraph explains that there could be third-party claims under maritime liens such as ports and maritime costs and taxes; seamen's wages; salvage and general average; repairs, supplies and necessities contracted outside the mortgaged drilling rigs' home port; collision and tort liens; and simple and general damages to the drilling rigs. (Id.)

The JPLs have been appointed with respect to each of Lone Star, Gold Star, Olinda Star, and Alpha Star, and function to protect the interests of the collective creditors of each. (FRFOF ¶ 79.) They have expressed support for the Brazilian RJ Proceeding and for a finding of COMI in Brazil for each of these BVI Debtors. (FRFOF ¶ 79.)

6. Star Int'l

Star Int'l is an offshore rig owner organized under the laws of the Cayman Islands and maintains its registered office there. (Verified Petition ¶ 73.) The sole director is Michael Pearson, a citizen of the United Kingdom, who resides in the Cayman Islands. (Stipulation ¶ 2.) Star Int'l owns the Atlantic Star offshore drilling rig; as of the petition date, the Atlantic Star was under contract with Petrobras and operating in Brazilian waters. (Verified Petition ¶ 14.) The Atlantic Star rig is classified as a midwater drilling rig. (Certified Translation of the RJ Petition at 38.)

Star Int'l's offshore rig is operated and maintained by Chapter 15 Debtor Petróleo Constellation and other Brazilian subsidiaries pursuant to operating and maintenance agreements, through its operational management team and operational staff located in the Brazilian Offices. (Verified Petition ¶ 70.) The Original Exchange Offer Memorandum explains that QGOG (defined as one of “our Brazilian subsidiaries” on page 17 of the Original Exchange Offer Memorandum) agreed to manage, be technically responsible for, and/or perform the activities and works of maintenance necessary to maintain and preserve Atlantic Star (the rig owned by Star Int’l) and all its parts, components, and equipment. (Original Exchange Offer Memorandum at 118.)

Star Int’l is a guarantor of the 2024 Notes issued by Parent/Constellation. (Stipulation ¶ 10.) The indenture trustees of the 2024 Notes are located in New York; otherwise, there is no evidence in the record regarding the location of the beneficial holders of the 2024 Notes.

The expectations of the creditors of the 2024 Notes, the key creditor constituency of the offshore drilling rigs, may be considered to be objectively determinable by reference to the offering memoranda related to the 2024 notes. The Original Exchange Offer Memorandum describes the Constellation Group, as a whole, as “[w]e are a market leading provider of offshore oil and gas contract drilling and FPSO services in Brazil.” (Original Exchange Offer Memorandum at 20.) A map provided in the Original Exchange Offer Memorandum shows that the Atlantic Star is located off of the coast of Brazil. (Id. at 108.) The same page of the document states that all of the offshore drilling rigs other than Olinda Star are under charter contracts with Petrobras. (Id.) Finally, the Original Exchange Offer Memorandum expressly refers several times to the chartering and operations of the offshore drilling rigs, explaining that those rigs operate “mainly in Brazil” and were currently chartered “mainly to [Petrobras].” (Id. at 230, 296.)

The Supplemental Exchange Offer Memorandum conveys to the holders of the 2024 Notes that insolvency proceedings may be commenced in Brazil and explains the consequences that a Brazilian restructuring or liquidation proceeding could have on their ability to enforce their collateral, including the mortgages granted to them over the offshore drilling rigs. (Supplemental Exchange Offer at 21 (describing Brazil as “the location . . . from which substantially all of the operating revenues that may be available to service the Company’s obligations under the New Notes are currently derived.”))

The Supplemental Exchange Offer Memorandum also contains evidence of the laws applicable to Star Int’l and other rig owners. For example, because the Atlantic Star rig is in Brazil, the arrest and seizure of the rig would take place under Brazilian law and require a judicial order issued by a Brazilian Court. (Id. at 22.) The same paragraph explains that there could be third-party claims under maritime liens such as ports and maritime costs and taxes; seamen’s wages; salvage and general average; repairs, supplies and necessities contracted outside the mortgaged drilling rigs’ home port; collision and tort liens; and simple and general damages to the drilling rigs. (Id.)

7. Snover

All of Snover’s rigs were located in Brazil as of the petition date. (Verified Petition ¶ 71.) Snover sits within the Constellation Group’s onshore drilling operation segment. It serves as the owner of three Onshore Drilling Rigs (the QG-V, the QG-VIII and the QG-IX). (FRFOF ¶ 81.) The Court therefore finds that Snover’s primary assets are in Brazil.

Snover’s sole director is Michael Pearson, a citizen of the United Kingdom, who resides in the Cayman Islands. (Stipulation ¶ 2.) The record contains no evidence that any of Snover’s decisions are made from Luxembourg. (FRFOF at 42 n.29.) Snover’s active Onshore Rig is operated by, and its inactive Onshore Rigs are maintained by, Debtor Petróleo Constellation through the Group's operational management team located in Brazil. (Id. ¶ 83.) The Court therefore finds that Snover's day-to-day management, like that of other drillship owning entities is in Brazil. Snover's senior management is best described as the senior executive team of the Constellation Group, which is located in both London and Brazil. Cumulatively, given that this entity is a drillship owner and makes use of predominately Brazilian employees, daily management, and given that most of the Constellation Group's executive management team is located in Brazil, the Court finds that Snover's senior management is best described as located in Brazil.

All of Snover's onshore drilling rigs are located in Brazil. (Id. ¶ 84.) As in its offshore operational segment, the Constellation Group charts its onshore drilling rigs to oil and gas customers and provides corresponding operating services. (Id. ¶ 84.) Snover is a fully integrated participant in the Constellation Group's onshore drilling operations—operations that take place primarily in Brazil, utilize Brazilian employees, and are accordingly subject to certain Brazilian legal and regulatory regimes. (Id. ¶ 84.) Its assets, consisting of onshore drilling rigs, are all located in Brazil, and its revenues ultimately derive from operations with primarily Brazilian customers under the customer contracts which historically have been primarily governed by Brazilian law. (Id. ¶ 84.)

Snover is a guarantor of the 2024 Notes. (Stipulation ¶ 10.) The indenture trustees of the 2024 Notes are located in New York and there is no evidence in the record regarding the location of the beneficial holders of the 2024 Notes. (FRFOF ¶ 45.) The location of the majority of Snover's creditors is therefore not strong evidence in favor of any particular COMI for Snover.

As a guarantor of the 2024 Notes, Snover's creditors were advised that their investment was essentially an investment in Brazil and were expressly cautioned that insolvency proceedings could take place in Brazil due to the strong ties to Brazil disclosed in the various offering memoranda. (Supplemental Exchange Offer Memorandum at 21 (stating that the jurisdiction of insolvency proceedings could be in Brazil); see also Original Exchange Offer Memorandum at 20 ("We are a market leading provider of offshore oil and gas contract drilling and FPSO services in Brazil.").)

In their appointment with respect to Snover, the JPLs speak for the interests of its collective creditors, and have expressed support for the Brazilian RJ Proceeding and for a finding of COMI in Brazil for each of these Debtors. (JPL Statement in Support ¶ 2.) Given that the 2024 notes offering memoranda heavily emphasize Brazil as the location of the Constellation Group's rigs and daily operations and given that the JPLs support a COMI in Brazil for Snover, the Court finds that creditor expectations and interests weigh in favor of a COMI in Brazil.

8. Arazi

Arazi is not discussed at this time. The Brazilian Court of Appeals determined that this company should be removed from the Brazilian RJ Proceeding, thus no consideration by this Court is necessary.

9. Petróleo Constellation

Petróleo Constellation is an entity organized under the laws of Brazil with its registered office at the Rio Office in Rio de Janeiro, Brazil. (Verified Petition ¶ 70.) No objections were filed to the recognition of the Brazilian RJ Proceeding for Petróleo Constellation, and Alpertone does not object to foreign main recognition in respect of Petróleo Constellation. (Hr'g Tr. at 95:13-17.)

Petróleo Constellation participates in all three of the Constellation Group's business segments—onshore, offshore, and FPSO investments. (Verified Petition ¶¶ 15, 17, 18.) It is the owner of six of the nine Onshore Drilling Rigs, the operator of all of the offshore drilling rigs and also provides a limited number of employees to the JV FPSO Units. (Id.) It employs the majority of the Constellation Group's employees and serves as the counterparty on the largely Brazilian law-governed Customer Service Agreements for the offshore drilling rigs. (Id. ¶ 70.) It owns several of the Constellation Group's Onshore Drilling Rigs and in most cases has historically served as the operator for the Constellation Group's onshore drilling rigs. (Id.)

Petróleo Constellation is not a guarantor of any indebtedness for borrowed money of other entities of the Constellation Group. (Stipulation ¶ 9.)

10. Constellation Overseas

Constellation Overseas is incorporated in the British Virgin Islands and has its registered office in the BVI. (Verified Petition ¶¶ 75, 76.) Constellation Overseas is the direct owner of 100% of the equity of Lone Star, Gold Star, Olinda Star, Snover and Alpha Star and is an indirect wholly owned subsidiary of Parent. (Id. ¶ 37.) The sole director of Constellation Overseas is Michael Pearson, who resides in the Cayman Islands and is a citizen of the United Kingdom. (Stipulation ¶ 2.)

Constellation Overseas is the Chapter 15 Debtor in the dispute with Alperion. Alperion and Constellation Overseas entered into a joint venture to build two ultra-deepwater drillships. They established two special purpose offshore holding companies organized under the laws of the BVI: Amaralina Star Ltd. and Laguna Star Ltd. Constellation Overseas' relationship with Alperion is discussed more fully above, in sections I.B.2 and I.C of this opinion.

Constellation Overseas is either the primary obligor or the guarantor for each category of Prepetition Debt set forth in the Verified Petition. (Verified Petition ¶¶ 20- 21; Stipulation ¶¶ 10-11.) Parent/Constellation is a guarantor of the obligations of Constellation Overseas under the Bradesco Working Capital Facilities. (Stipulation ¶ 8.)

III. DISCUSSION

A. The Debtors Satisfy Section 109(a) and Venue Is Proper in this District

Foreign debtors seeking relief under chapter 15 must satisfy the debtor eligibility requirements set forth in section 109(a) of the Bankruptcy Code. See In re Ocean Rig UDW Inc., 570 B.R. at 698 (citing Drawbridge Special Opportunities Fund LP v. Barnet (In re Barnet), 737 F.3d 238, 247-51 (2d Cir. 2013)). Section 109(a) provides that “only a person that resides or has a domicile, a place of business or property in the United States, or a municipality, may be a debtor” under the Bankruptcy Code. 11 U.S.C. § 109(a). Courts in this Circuit have held that section 109(a) can be satisfied by bank accounts in the United States, including by an undrawn retainer. See, e.g., In re U.S. Steel Can. Inc., 571 B.R. 600, 610 (Bankr. S.D.N.Y. 2017) (“Some courts, including this one, have held that an undrawn retainer in a United States bank account qualifies as property in satisfaction of section 109(a).”). This Court has previously held that a debtor’s contract rights, including rights pursuant to debt that contains a New York governing law and forum selection clause, constitute intangible property of the debtor in New York for purposes of section 109(a). See, e.g., In re Berau Capital Res. PTE Ltd., 540 B.R. 80, 83-84 (Bankr. S.D.N.Y. 2015) (“Contracts create property rights for the parties to the contract. A debtor’s contract rights are intangible property of the debtor. . . . The Court concludes that the presence of the New York choice of law and forum selection clauses . . . satisfies the section 109(a) ‘property in the United States’ eligibility requirement”) (internal citations omitted); see also In re Cell C Proprietary Ltd., 571 B.R. 542, 552 (Bankr. S.D.N.Y. 2017) (finding that a debtor's issuance of notes governed by New York law and containing a New York forum selection clause as an "independently sufficient bas[is] for jurisdiction") (internal quotations omitted); In re Inversora Eléctrica de Buenos Aires S.A., 560 B.R. 650, 655 (Bankr. S.D.N.Y. 2016) ("[D]ollar-denominated debt subject to New York governing law and a New York forum selection clause is independently sufficient to form the basis for jurisdiction.") (citation omitted).

Each of the Chapter 15 Debtors has property in the United States. (Hr'g Tr. 42:25, 43:1-3.) All of the principal documents setting forth Parent/Constellation's prepetition debt obligations are governed by New York law and generally contemplate New York as a venue for disputes. Second, each of the Chapter 15 Debtors owns $1,000 cash in U.S. bank accounts principally located in Manhattan, New York. (FRFOF ¶ 107.) Together, this property constitutes the principal U.S. assets of each of the Chapter 15 Debtors, in satisfaction of section 109(a). Additionally, because of the location of these accounts, venue is also proper pursuant to section 1410(1) of title 28 of the United States Code.

B. The Debtors Satisfy the Recognition Requirements Contained in Sections 1517(a)(2) & 1517(a)(3)

Section 1517(a) provides the remaining requirements for the recognition of a foreign proceeding under chapter 15. In re Ocean Rig UDW Inc., 570 B.R. at 698. Subject to the public policy exception contained in section 1506, a foreign proceeding must be recognized if the following requirements are met:

- (1) such foreign proceeding for which recognition is sought is a foreign main proceeding or foreign nonmain proceeding within the meaning of section 1502;
- (2) the foreign representative applying for recognition is a person or body; and

(3) the petition meets the requirements of section 1515.

11 U.S.C. § 1517(a); see also In re Ocean Rig UDW Inc., 570 B.R. at 698–99.

Therefore, recognition of the foreign proceeding is statutorily mandated if the three requirements of section 1517(a) are met and no exception applies. See In re Millard, 501 B.R. 644, 651 (Bankr. S.D.N.Y. 2013). The first of section 1517(a)'s three factors requires that the Court determine that a proceeding is either foreign main proceeding or a foreign nonmain proceeding before it can recognize the proceeding. 11 U.S.C. § 1517(a). That determination is the more complex issue which will be further discussed below. The other two requirements of section 1517 are more straightforward on these facts and are both met.

1. The Foreign Representative Meets 1517(a)(2)'s Requirements

A chapter 15 case is properly commenced by the filing of a petition for recognition by a “foreign representative.” See 11 U.S.C. §§ 1504, 1515(a). The Bankruptcy Code defines a “foreign representative” as “a person or body, including a person or body appointed on an interim basis, authorized in a foreign proceeding to administer the reorganization or liquidation of the debtor’s assets or affairs or to act as a representative of such foreign proceeding.” 11 U.S.C. § 101(24). The Petitioner is a “person” as defined under 11 U.S.C. § 101(41) and, pursuant to the resolutions authorizing the commencement of the RJ and the appointment of the Foreign Representative, which are located in Exhibit D to the Verified Petition, is authorized to commence a Brazilian RJ Proceeding and a Chapter 15 Case on behalf of each of the Debtors and to take all necessary actions as the Foreign Representative. (See “Resolutions,” ECF Doc. # 7-4.) Therefore, the Petitioner is a proper “foreign representative” within the meaning of section 101(24) with respect to each of the Chapter 15 Debtors, and thus section 1517(a)(2) is satisfied.

2. The Petition Meets the Additional Requirements of Section 1515

These Chapter 15 Cases were properly commenced with respect to each of the Chapter 15 Debtors in accordance with sections 1504, 1509(a) and 1515. The Verified Petition was filed pursuant to section 1515(a) and included all disclosures and documents required by sections 1515(b) and (c).

The Brazilian RJ Proceeding is a “foreign proceeding” as set forth in 1517(a)(1) of the Bankruptcy Code. Section 101(23) defines a “foreign proceeding” as (1) a collective judicial or administrative proceeding under a law relating to insolvency or adjustment of debt, (2) pending in a foreign country, (3) in which the assets and affairs of the debtor are subject to control or supervision of a foreign court, and (4) for the purpose of reorganization or liquidation. 11 U.S.C. § 101(23). Courts in this Circuit have long agreed that the Brazilian RJ process satisfies these standards. See, e.g., In re Oi S.A., Case No. 16-11791 (SHL), ECF Doc. # 38 (Bankr. S.D.N.Y. July 22, 2016); In re OAS S.A., 533 B.R. 83, 83 (Bankr. S.D.N.Y. 2015); In re Aralco S.A. Industria e Comercio, et al., No. 15-10419 (REG), ECF Doc. # 22 (Bankr. S.D.N.Y. Apr. 21, 2015).

C. Recognition Under Chapter 15

In order to grant recognition, the Court must first find that the Brazilian RJ Proceeding constitutes either a main or nonmain proceeding with respect to each Chapter 15 Debtor. See, e.g., In re Bear Stearns High-Grade Structured Credit Strategies Master Fund, Ltd., 374 B.R. 122, 126-27 (Bankr. S.D.N.Y. 2007) (hereinafter Bear Stearns I), aff’d, 389 B.R. 325 (S.D.N.Y. 2008) (hereinafter Bear Stearns II) (“[T]he recognition must be coded as either main or nonmain.”). When a debtor seeks recognition of a foreign proceeding, the Court may (i) recognize the proceeding as a foreign main proceeding, (ii) recognize the proceeding as a foreign nonmain proceeding, or (iii) refuse recognition. See id. (refusing to recognize foreign proceedings as main or nonmain proceedings since the debtors did not meet the nonmain proceeding requirement of having an “establishment” in the location of the proceeding).

Courts determine if a proceeding is main or nonmain using section 1502’s definitions of each term. Section 1502 defines a “foreign main proceeding” as a “foreign proceeding pending in the country where the debtor has the center of its main interests.” 11 U.S.C. § 1502(4). A foreign nonmain proceeding is defined as a “foreign proceeding, other than a foreign main proceeding, pending in a country where the debtor has an establishment.” 11 U.S.C. § 1502(5) (emphasis added). Establishment is defined in Chapter 15 as “any place of operations where the debtor carries out a nontransitory economic activity.” 11 U.S.C. § 1502(2).²⁷

If a proceeding does not qualify as a main or nonmain proceeding, it cannot be recognized under chapter 15. The Bear Stearns court explained:

[T]he process of recognition of a foreign proceeding is a simple single step process incorporating the definitions in sections 1502 and 101(23) and (24) to determine recognition as either a main or nonmain proceeding or nonrecognition. See Jay Lawrence Westbrook, Locating the Eye of the Financial Storm, 32 BROOK. J. INT’L L. 3, 6 (2007 publication pending) hereinafter (“Westbrook Article”) (“The Model Law grants great discretion as to specific relief, but imposes a fairly rigid procedural structure for recognition of foreign proceedings.”)

Bear Stearns I, 374 B.R. at 126; see In re Iida, 377 B.R. 243, 253–54 (9th Cir. BAP 2007); see also Halo Creative & Design Ltd. v. Comptoir Des Indes Inc., No. 14 C 8196, 2018 WL

4742066, at *2 (N.D. Ill. Oct. 2, 2018); Reserve Intern. Liquidity Fund Lt. v. Caxton Intern. Ltd., 2010 WL 1779282, at *5 (S.D.N.Y. 2010).

The Court in In re Oi Brasil Holdings further explained that the recognition decision is one of the few pieces of the chapter 15 process in which courts are not to be guided by the general principles of comity, since the text of the statute “provides the standard for a court’s determination” and therefore “comity does not enter the equation.” In re Oi Brasil Holdings Cooperatief U.A., 578 B.R. 169, 213 (Bankr. S.D.N.Y. 2017), reconsideration denied, 582 B.R. 358 (Bankr. S.D.N.Y. 2018). The Oi court explained:

In the case of recognition under Chapter 15, “[b]oth the plain language and legislative history of Chapter 15 . . . requires [a bankruptcy court to make] a factual determination with respect to recognition before principles of comity come into play.” In re Bear Stearns, 389 B.R. at 334. So while comity governs recognition of a foreign judgment (see Rapture Shipping, 350 F.Supp.2d at 373), it does not govern the initial recognition of a foreign proceeding under Chapter 15. Recognition of a proceeding requires the application of “objective criteria,” and it is only post-recognition relief which “turns on subjective factors that embody principles of comity.” In re Atlas Shipping, 404 B.R. at 738 (quoting In re Bear Stearns, 389 B.R. at 333 (citing 11 U.S.C. §§ 1507, 1517, 1521, 1525; Model Law Art. 7, 17, 21, 25)); see also In re Ran, 390 B.R. 257, 292 (Bankr. S.D. Tex. 2008) (“By arguing comity without satisfying the conditions for recognition, [the foreign trustee] urges this Court to ignore the statutory requirements of 11 U.S.C. § 1517 . . . comity is not an element of recognition; it is rather, a consideration once recognition is granted.”).

Id. at 214.

However, once the decision to grant recognition is made, principles of comity and the provisions of chapter 15 can provide substantially similar relief to a debtor—whether a proceeding is recognized as main or nonmain. This Court repeatedly emphasized during the Recognition Hearing that there may be no statutory and practical effects of distinguishing recognition as a foreign main proceeding, as opposed recognition as a foreign nonmain proceeding. Indeed, a foreign nonmain proceeding can be granted nearly identical relief as the relief provided to a main proceeding. The SPhinX Court explained:

Under either approach, the Court would be able to grant the [foreign representatives] the same significant relief upon a proper showing, given the Court's view that Congress separated the concept of "recognition" under Bankruptcy Code section 1517(a) from the concept of "recognition as a foreign nonmain proceeding" under section 1517(b)(2). (Indeed, as noted above, except for the applicability of the automatic stay, the potential relief available to the [foreign representatives] under chapter 15 in almost all respects does not depend on whether the Cayman Islands proceedings are recognized as "main" or "nonmain.")

In re SPhinX, Ltd., 351 B.R. 103, 122 (Bankr. S.D.N.Y. 2006), aff'd, 371 B.R. 10 (S.D.N.Y. 2007).

As previously noted, however, further discretionary relief beyond the decision of the form of recognition of the foreign proceeding for each Chapter 15 Debtor is a separate determination based on different factors and is not the main subject of this opinion. This opinion solely seeks to establish the appropriate form of recognition (e.g., main or nonmain) for each Chapter 15 Debtor as required by chapter 15. Since Brazil has not adopted the Model Law, the fact that Brazil recognizes the eligibility of particular debtors to reorganize under Brazil law does not control the COMI determination here. In re Oi Brasil, 578 B.R. at 216 (explaining that no issues of deference or comity arise in countries that have not adopted the Model Law, including Brazil). On the other hand, if the Brazil court dismisses a debtor from the Brazilian RJ Proceeding, as has now occurred, it does preclude a decision by this Court that the Brazilian RJ Proceeding of a dismissed debtor is either a foreign main or nonmain proceeding.

D. Recognition as a Foreign Main Proceeding

While the statute provides that a foreign main proceeding is one where the debtor has its COMI, the statute does not further define the term COMI. See 11 U.S.C. §§ 1501–1532. There is a rebuttable presumption that COMI is where the debtor has its “registered office.” 11 U.S.C. § 1516(c) (“In the absence of evidence to the contrary, the debtor’s registered office . . . is presumed to be the center of the debtor’s main interests.”). However, the COMI presumption is rebuttable where other factors suggest that the true COMI of a debtor lies elsewhere. See, e.g., In re Bear Stearns II, 389 B.R. at 335 (“[S]ection 1516(c) creates no more than a rebuttable evidentiary presumption, which may be rebutted notwithstanding a lack of party opposition.”).

1. The SPhinX Factors

Courts in this District have developed a widely adopted list of factors for determining COMI. In re Fairfield Sentry Ltd., 714 F.3d at 137 (referring to and citing the factors from In re SPhinX, Ltd., 351 B.R. at 117). These factors, enumerated below (hereinafter, “SPhinX Factors”), are not to be applied mechanically and are nonexclusive. In fact, a consideration of the factors is neither required nor dispositive. Id. The factors are, however, helpful. The SPhinX Court explained:

Various factors, singly or combined, could be relevant to such a [COMI] determination: [1] the location of the debtor's headquarters; [2] the location of those who actually manage the debtor (which, conceivably could be the headquarters of a holding company); [3] the location of the debtor’s primary assets; [4] the location of the majority of the debtor’s creditors or of a majority of the creditors who would be affected by the case; [5] and/or the jurisdiction whose law would apply to most disputes.

In re SPhinX, Ltd., 351 B.R. at 117.

When determining the “location of those who actually manage the debtor,” courts consider more than the location of the board of directors of the debtor in isolation, and their analysis of the location of management is somewhat flexible to reflect the realities of the management of a particular business. For example,

The headquarters of a corporate entity is more than the location of its board of directors. The term headquarters, or head office, contemplates the place where the primary management of an entity's business is undertaken. Management of a corporate entity includes all relevant business functions, such as the financial, administrative, marketing, information technology, investment, and legal functions. Other functions may be relevant depending on the nature of the debtor's business. Here, because [the debtor] operated as an insurance company, actuarial tasks, underwriting, and claims adjustment should be considered.

In re British Am. Ins. Co. Ltd., 425 B.R. 884, 911 (Bankr. S.D. Fla. 2010).

2. International Interpretations

In addition to the SPhinX Factors, the Court also considers foreign case law interpreting identical provisions of the Model Law when interpreting chapter 15's provisions. Because each section within chapter 15 is based on a corresponding article in the Model Law, "if a textual provision of Chapter 15 is unclear or ambiguous, the Court may then consider the Model Law and foreign interpretations of it as part of its interpretive task." In re OAS S.A., 533 B.R. 83, 92 (Bankr. S.D.N.Y. 2015) (internal quotations omitted) (quoting O'Sullivan v. Loy (In re Loy), 432 B.R. 551, 560 (E.D. Va. 2010)). The Court also considers the UNCITRAL Model Law on Cross-Border Insolvency with Guide to Enactment and Interpretation (2013) ("Guide to Enactment") when interpreting chapter 15. In re OAS S.A., 533 B.R. at 92; see H.R. Rep. No. 109–31, at 105 (2005); Leif M. Clark, Ancillary & Other Cross-Border Insolvency Cases Under Chapter 15 of the Bankruptcy Code § 3[1][a][i], at 17 (2008). As this Court stated in Ocean Rig, because section 1508 of the Bankruptcy Code directs a court interpreting chapter 15 to "consider its international origin, and the need to promote application of this chapter that is consistent with the application of similar statutes adopted by foreign jurisdictions," 11 U.S.C. § 1508, it is therefore appropriate for U.S. bankruptcy courts to consider interpretations from other international jurisdictions that have adopted the Model Law. In re Ocean Rig, 570 B.R. at 702 n.6; see also In re Fairfield Sentry, 714 F.3d at 136 (holding that international sources may be considered to the extent they assist in “carry[ing] out the congressional purpose of achieving international uniformity in cross-border insolvency proceedings”).

3. Third Party Expectations

Additionally, because there is no statutory definition of COMI, courts have some latitude to consider the factors that may be relevant, given the facts in a particular case. In re Creative Fin., Ltd. (In Liquidation), 543 B.R. 498, 517 (Bankr. S.D.N.Y. 2016); see also In re Fairfield Sentry Ltd., 714 F.3d at 137 (“The absence of a statutory definition for a term that is not self-defining signifies that the text is open-ended, and invites development by courts, depending on facts presented, without prescription or limitation.”).

Beyond the SPhinX Factors, the Second Circuit and other courts have examined as an additional relevant factor whether there exists any objective evidence that could provide interested parties with notice that a debtor’s COMI was in a particular jurisdiction other than the place of its registered office. See In re Fairfield Sentry, 714 F.3d at 130 (“[T]he relevant principle . . . is that the COMI lies where the debtor conducts its regular business, so that the place is ascertainable by third parties . . .”). As the Second Circuit explained, by examining factors “in the public domain,” courts are readily able to determine whether a debtor’s COMI is in fact “regular and ascertainable [and] not easily subject to tactical removal.” See In re Fairfield Sentry, 714 F.3d at 136-37; see also Bear Stearns I, 374 B.R. at 129-30 (looking at whether the proposed COMI was ascertainable by third parties as part of its COMI analysis). The Second Circuit’s focus on readily ascertainable evidence of COMI derives from the regulation adopting the European Union Convention on Insolvency Proceedings, where the COMI concept (which corresponds to that of the Model Law) is elaborated upon as “the place where the debtor conducts the administration of his interests on a regular basis and is therefore ascertainable by third parties.” In re Fairfield Sentry, 714 F.3d at 136 (citing the Council Reg. (EC) No. 1346/2000 of May 29, 2000 on Insolvency Proceedings).

4. Expectations of Creditors

Courts in the Second Circuit also look to the expectations of creditors with regard to the location of a debtor’s COMI. For example, “[c]reditor expectations can be evaluated through examination of the public documents and information available to guide creditor understanding of the nature and risks of their investments.” In re Oi Brasil Holdings Cooperatief U.A., 578 B.R. at 228. In practice, the evaluation of creditor expectations has focused on reviewing disclosures in offering memoranda and indentures. See id. at 228-32 (reviewing offering memorandum to establish noteholder expectations as part of a COMI analysis); In re OAS S.A., 533 B.R. at 101-03 (same); In re Millennium Glob. Emerging Credit Master Fund Ltd., 474 B.R. 88, 93-4 (S.D.N.Y. 2012) (same); In re Suntech Power Holdings Co., Ltd., 520 B.R. 399, 418 (Bankr. S.D.N.Y. 2014) (considering terms of indenture to establish creditor expectations regarding likely location of a restructuring as part of a COMI analysis). The SPhinX Court explained:

[T]he flexibility inherent in chapter 15 strongly suggests, however, that the Court should not apply such factors mechanically. Instead, they should be viewed in light of chapter 15’s emphasis on protecting the reasonable interests of parties in interest pursuant to fair procedures and the maximization of the debtor’s value. Because their money is ultimately at stake, one generally should defer, therefore, to the creditors’ acquiescence in or support of a proposed COMI. It is reasonable to assume that the debtor and its creditors (and shareholders, if they have an economic stake in the proceeding) can, absent an improper purpose, best determine how to maximize the efficiency of a liquidation or reorganization and, ultimately, the value of the debtor, assuming also, of course, that chapter 15 requires the court to protect the legitimate interests of dissenters (even to the extent of enabling the modification of a recognition order under Bankruptcy Code section 1517(d)), particularly where other objective factors point to a different COMI. Relatedly, if the parties in interest are in a legitimate dispute over the debtor's COMI, it is probably safe to assume that promoting cooperation among courts and the parties will play a greater role than artificially choosing one proceeding as a "primary" proceeding. At least this is what the Court takes away from the stated objectives and structure of the statute.

In re SPhinX, Ltd., 351 B.R. at 117–18.

The court in In re Chiang, 437 B.R. 397 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. 2010), explained, that "the location of the COMI is an objective determination based on the viewpoint of third parties (usually creditors)." Id. at 403. The OAS Court found that notice to creditors of "Risk Factors" contained within offering memoranda of a debtor's notes were particularly important. In re OAS S.A., 533 B.R. at 102–03. The Court explained:

[T]he "Risk Factors" that all note purchasers were warned to "carefully consider" before deciding to purchase the notes described the risks associated with the businesses of the OAS Group, not OAS Investments, and included a separate discussion focusing on the special risks relating to investments that could be affected by the Brazilian economy and Brazilian government actions. Potential purchasers were also warned that if OAS and its subsidiaries could not pay their indebtedness, including the obligations under the guarantees, they might become subject to bankruptcy proceedings in Brazil, and Brazilian laws might be less favorable to creditors compared to the laws of the United States or other jurisdictions. In contrast, the offering memoranda do not discuss the risks of operating in Austria. The only risk factor that mentioned Austria stated that Austria would not enforce U.S. judgments, the U.S. securities laws or awards of punitive damages.

Id. (internal citations omitted).

The OAS Court concluded that the creditors would have understood that they were investing in a Brazilian based business, even though (i) the offering memoranda provided that their rights were governed by New York law and they consented to jurisdiction and service of process in New York and (ii) the creditors expected to receive payment from cash generated by the operations of the group and in the event of default were only warned that they "might ultimately have to enforce their rights in a Brazilian bankruptcy proceeding” as opposed to an Austrian proceeding, where the holding company was incorporated. Id. at 103. Despite the foreign debtor’s Austrian incorporation, the OAS Court found that “OAS Investments’ place of incorporation, or for that matter its very existence, was immaterial to their decision to purchase their notes.” Id. Ultimately, the court found that the creditors’ expectation of COMI should weigh in favor of a Brazilian COMI where “OAS Investments had no separate, ascertainable presence in Austria; it was part of, and inseparable from, the OAS Group located in Brazil. Finally, the 2019 Noteholders had no legitimate expectation that the Austrian courts would play any role in the determination or payment of their claims.” Id.

5. PPB or Nerve Center Analysis

Additionally, some courts have employed the concept of “principal place of business” to guide their COMI analysis and, accordingly, have applied the Supreme Court’s definition of that concept, which looks at a corporation’s “nerve center,” i.e., “where a corporation’s officers direct, control, and coordinate the corporation’s activities.” See In re Fairfield Sentry Ltd., 714 F. 3d at 138 n.10 (emphasis added) (citing Hertz Corp. v. Friend, 130 S.Ct. 1181, 1192 (2010)). The Second Circuit clarified in Fairfield Sentry that given Congress’s choice to use “COMI” instead of “principal place of business” in chapter 15, the “nerve center” concept does not control, “[b]ut to the extent that the concepts are similar, a court may certainly consider a debtor’s ‘nerve center,’ including from where the debtor’s activities are directed and controlled, in determining a debtor’s COMI.” See id. at 138.

The “nerve center” analysis, like most other factors in the COMI analysis, is not at all a straightforward standard when applied to most international conglomerates. However, it can provide a helpful reminder that courts should not perfunctorily rely upon the place of incorporation or location of board meetings to establish the corporation's ultimate COMI. See, e.g., In re OAS S.A., 533 B.R. at 102 (finding Brazil as the nerve center where "[t]here is no evidence that its Board of Directors ever convened a meeting except to pass the resolution appointing Tavares as its foreign representative, and that resolution was executed by its Brazilian directors in Brazil.").

6. Additional Considerations

There are circumstances that make the COMI analysis more complicated with respect to certain of the Chapter 15 Debtors. For example, in In re OAS S.A., the court noted that "the COMI analysis when applied to a special purpose financing vehicle proves less straightforward than the typical case." Id. at 101. Additionally, in In re Ocean Rig UDW Inc., this Court discussed the COMI of another group of international drilling rigs and explained that "the Foreign Debtors are holding companies of the Group and conduct their business throughout the world, principally on the high seas. Accordingly, the nature of the Group's business and the mobility of their assets complicate the COMI analysis." In re Ocean Rig UDW Inc., 570 B.R. at 704. Also discussed by the Court in Ocean Rig are the possible complications that arise when a group of debtors have shifted their COMI over time. Id.

While the above complications are all present in the analysis before the Court, it is nonetheless true that every debtor has one and only one COMI. See In re Millennium Glob. Emerging Credit Master Fund Ltd., 458 B.R. 63, 79 (Bankr. S.D.N.Y. 2011) ("[E]very entity has a center of main interests."); In re Chiang, 437 B.R. at 403 ("[A] debtor may not have more than one COMI. . . . In addition, a debtor must have a COMI and it must be in a specific country.").

E. Recognition as a Foreign Nonmain Proceeding

An alternative form of recognition is recognition as a foreign nonmain proceeding. To be recognized as a nonmain proceeding, the foreign debtor must establish a degree of stable connections with the jurisdiction to constitute a nontransitory “establishment.” 11 U.S.C. § 1502(2). An article in the Norton Journal of Bankruptcy Law and Practice summarizes:

Before Bear Stearns, it seems fair to say that many practitioners believed—based on section 1515—that by making these two showings, the statutory requirements for commencing a valid and proper Chapter 15 proceeding had been met. Bear Stearns revealed, however, that when a foreign debtor commences a proceeding in a jurisdiction where it has no real “presence”—i.e., no nontransitory business activity—the foreign proceeding will not be recognized under Chapter 15, either as a “main” or “nonmain” proceeding. The “establishment” requirement for “nonmain” status requires, as a prerequisite for any relief under Chapter 15, a base level of connection between the foreign debtor and the foreign jurisdiction that prevents a debtor from commencing a case in a jurisdiction where it has nothing more than a mail-drop presence.

William H. Schrag, William C. Heuer, and Robert E. Cortes, Cross-Border Insolvencies and Chapter 15: Recent U.S. Case Law Determining Whether a Foreign Proceeding Is “Main” or “Nonmain” or Neither, 17 J. BANKR. L. & PRAC. 5 Art. 4 (Aug. 2008).

Thus, on one end of the spectrum, a debtor may have activities so centered in the location of the foreign proceeding that the location is the debtor’s COMI, and on the other end of the spectrum, the debtor may be so disconnected from the location of the proceeding that courts should refuse to recognize it at all. Somewhere between these two extremes are companies that have sufficient non-transitory business connections with the jurisdiction of the proceeding to determine that the proceeding is nonmain.

The English judgment in In the Matter of Videology Limited, [2018] EWHC 2186 (Ch) (Snowden J.), provides a helpful example of a company that falls into this middle category of recognition as a nonmain proceeding. Justice Snowden was asked to recognize a chapter 11 case of Videology Ltd. Videology was incorporated and had its registered office in England but was part of a larger, international corporate group that was incorporated in Delaware. Videology, EWHC 2186 (Ch) ¶ 4. The sole director of the parent and Videology was a resident of the United States, who conducted regular business on behalf of the group of companies from the United States. A shared “senior executive team” for the group of the companies was also located in the United States. Nevertheless, the court refused to find a COMI in the United States for Videology. The court explained:

Taking all of these factors together, I was not persuaded that the presumption that the COMI of [Videology Ltd.] is located in the place of its registered office had been displaced. In addition to being the place of its registered office, the UK is where the [Videology Ltd.’s] trading premises and staff are located, where its customer and creditor relationships are established, where it administers its relations with its trade creditors on a day-to-day basis using those premises and local staff, and where its main assets (the receivables and cash at bank) are located. All of those factors will be visible and immediately ascertainable by the customers, and in particular by the trade creditors, of the Company. The UK is also, importantly, where representations were made to the Company’s main finance creditor that its COMI was situated.

Videology ¶ 72.

Thus, even though the ultimate COMI analysis resulted in a COMI in the UK, shared aspects of the management of the international corporate group provided enough presence in the United States to find that the chapter 11 case was a nonmain proceeding.

Moreover, the Videology judgment shows that courts should be wary of using the location of the senior management of groups of internationally operated companies as evidence of the COMI of one subsidiary company within the international group. For example, after noting that the CEO and senior executive team were permanently based in the United States, Justice Snowden dismissed this evidence as non-persuasive in changing Videology Ltd.’s COMI by explaining that there was no evidence suggesting that the senior management of Videology Ltd.

were “in fact separately employed by, or only hold their positions within” Videology Ltd. Videology ¶ 57. Rather, the senior management of the group of companies, like that of the Constellation Group’s executive team, was apparently responsible for certain high-level business decisions on behalf of the whole group of companies. This evidence regarding the senior management was sufficient to establish a nonmain proceeding in the U.S., but insufficient to establish Videology Ltd.’s COMI in the U.S.

F. Non-Recognition

There are circumstances in which courts applying chapter 15 should refuse to recognize foreign proceedings, whether as main or nonmain proceedings. For instance, where a foreign debtor seeking recognition under chapter 15 maintains only what can be described as a “letter box” company in the location of the foreign proceeding. See, e.g., Bear Stearns I, 374 B.R. at 129-31. The Bear Stearns opinion explains that if the only business done in the jurisdiction where a proceeding is sought to be recognized consists of “those steps necessary to maintain the [companies] in good standing as registered . . . companies” in those jurisdictions, this is a close approximation of a “letterbox” company. Id. at 129 n.8.

However, even in cases of letterbox companies or other cases where the court refuses to grant any recognition of the foreign proceeding, the foreign representative may still obtain certain forms of relief from U.S. Courts. Id. at 132. Other forms of relief that the foreign representative may obtain after the court refuses to recognize a foreign proceeding include (i) filing a case under Title 11 in coordination with the foreign proceeding and (ii) suing in a court in the United States to collect or recover a claim which is the property of the debtor. Id. at 132–33. In this case, it is not clear that each of the Chapter 15 Debtors has its COMI or an establishment within Brazil.

G. COMI Analysis Applied to Each Chapter 15 Debtor

As the SPhinX court explained, “[o]n the issue of recognition of foreign proceedings as ‘main’ or ‘nonmain,’ the Bankruptcy Code provides considerable but not complete discretion. 351 B.R. at 117. Based on the legal discussion above and the understanding that COMI is a flexible determination and not a rigid application of factors, the Court will now review the COMI of Chapter 15 Debtors and in the process consider any COMI-relevant evidence that is available in the evidentiary record regarding each Chapter 15 Debtor individually, inter alia: (1) the SPhinX Factors, (2) international interpretations of COMI, (3) the reasonable expectations of interested third parties, (4) the expectations or support of creditors, and (5) interpretations of a corporation’s “principal place of business” as the “nerve center” of a corporation. In assessing these factors, the Court is mindful that a Chapter 15 Debtor’s COMI is determined as of the filing date of the chapter 15 petition, without regard to the debtor’s historic operational activity.²⁸ See In re Fairfield Sentry Ltd., 714 F. 3d at 137. The ultimate aim of the analysis is to locate the “real seat” of each of the Chapter 15 Debtors. See Bear Stearns I., 374 B.R. at 130.

Although Alperton recognizes that COMI must be determined on a company-by-company basis, the crux of its argument for the majority of the Chapter 15 Debtors is that “an examination of the evidentiary record shows that each International Company is controlled and managed by Parent from Luxembourg, and as a result, the COMI of each International Company also lies in Luxembourg, not in Brazil.” (Alperton FOF ¶ 122.) While the Court and all parties recognize that these entities are highly inter-related, each debtor entity must be considered, rather than making a single top-down decision on the basis of the COMI of the parent company of the group. See In re Oi Brasil, 578 B.R. at 206. Additionally, the Court has an independent obligation to determine COMI before recognizing a foreign proceeding as a foreign main proceeding. See In re Alpha Fund (Master), 381 B.R. 37, 40 (Bankr. S.D.N.Y. 2008) (“[A] court engaging in a recognition determination under section 1517 is not bound by parties’ failures to object; may, if it is so advised, consider any and all relevant facts (including facts not yet presented); and that the circumstances here make further factual inquiry necessary and appropriate.”); Bear Stearns I, 374 B.R. at 126 (“[R]ecognition under section 1517 is not to be rubber stamped by the courts. This Court must make an independent determination as to whether the foreign proceeding meets the definitional requirements of sections 1502 and 1517 of the Bankruptcy Code.”).

The evidentiary burden to show where each debtor has its COMI is on the foreign representative. H. Report No. 109-31, 112-13 (“The ultimate burden as to each element is on the foreign representative”); see In re Oi Brasil, 578 B.R. at 194 (stating that “the burden rests on the foreign representative to prove each of the requirements of Section 1517”). The rebuttable presumption that COMI lies in the place of the registered office “at no time relieves a petitioner of its burden of proof/risk of non-persuasion” and it imposes “on the party against whom it is directed the burden of going forward with evidence to rebut or meet the presumption.” Bear Stearns II, 389 B.R. at 335. The legislative history of chapter 15 further indicates that the evidentiary burden lies with the foreign representative. Chapter 15 is modeled after the Model Law, but chapter 15 changed the standard that established the presumption in “the absence of proof to the contrary,” to a presumption in “the absence of evidence to the contrary.” Id. at 128. The legislative history of chapter 15 explains that the word “proof” was changed to “evidence” to make it clearer, using United States terminology, that the foreign representative has the ultimate burden of showing where each debtor has its COMI. See H. Report No. 109-31, 112-13

(2005); see also In re Tri-Continental Exchange Ltd., 349 B.R. 627, 635 (Bankr. E.D. Cal. 2006). The evidentiary burden for the foreign representative is the same whether or not there is a creditor objection. See In re Basis Yield Alpha Fund (Master), 381 B.R. at 40; Bear Stearns I, 374 B.R. at 126.

1. Parent/Constellation's COMI is Luxembourg

Based upon the Court's foregoing findings of fact related to Parent/Constellation and the most relevant COMI factors, discussed below, the Court finds that Parent/Constellation's COMI is located in Luxembourg.

a. The Location of the Debtor's Headquarters is Luxembourg

The location of Parent/Constellation's headquarters is Luxembourg, where it is incorporated, is a tax resident, and has its registered office. (See supra § II.H.1.)

b. The Location of those who Actually Manage the Debtor is Luxembourg

As noted in the discussion section, Parent/Constellation's board of directors meets in Luxembourg. (Id.) Parent/Constellation's board of directors appoints the executives, based in London and Brazil, who serve the entire Constellation Group. (Id.) Because Parent/Constellation is ultimately a parent company that exists for the task of high level management of all subsidiaries, it makes sense that the location from which the board of directors conducts its activities should weigh more heavily than the daily operational staff's location—which is spread between two nations, in any case and therefore would not provide a strong weight against finding management to be principally located in Luxembourg. Thus, the Court finds that the location of those who manage Constellation is Luxembourg.

c. The Location of the Debtor's Primary Assets is Brazil

For a holding company, the location of its subsidiaries and the location of their principal assets is relevant to the COMI analysis. See In re Inversora Electrica de Buenos Aires S.A., 560 B.R. at 656 (recognizing COMI in Argentina where a holding company's assets were located in Argentina). As noted in the background section, Parent/Constellation's physical assets are primarily located in Brazil. (See supra § II.H.1.)

d. The Location of the Majority of the Debtor's Creditors or of a Majority of Creditors who would Be Affected by the Case is Neutral

The Court found that the location of most of Parent/Constellation's creditors is indeterminate, as a matter of fact. (Id.) Therefore, this factor does not impact the COMI analysis of Parent/Constellation.

e. The Jurisdiction Whose Law Would Apply to Most Disputes is Luxembourg

As discussed above, an array of international law could apply to Parent/Constellation since it is the parent of an international group of companies and since all of the debt it issued is written in English and governed by New York law. (Id.) However, because Parent/Constellation is a Luxembourg incorporated entity, that depends upon Luxembourg law for its existence and its corporate operations, the Court found that Luxembourg law should be considered the law that would apply to most of Parent/Constellation's disputes. (Id.)

f. The Reasonable Expectations of Interested Third Parties and Creditors is Luxembourg

The Chapter 15 Debtors have stipulated that Parent/Constellation has its "central administration" in Luxembourg for purposes of Luxembourg tax law. (Stipulation ¶ 7.) The meaning of the phrase "central administration" under Luxembourg tax law is not before the Court, but the fact that Parent/Constellation takes the position with Luxembourg authorities that its “central administration” is in Luxembourg, for tax or any other purpose, is itself readily ascertainable evidence to third parties of a connection to Luxembourg beyond a letter box.

Additionally, when the Constellation Group makes important decisions, it issues press releases from its Luxembourg office. These press releases are available to the public on the Constellation Group’s website and are therefore in the “public domain.” (Alperton FOF ¶ 94.)²⁹ For example, when the Constellation Group announced its restructuring on December 6, 2018, it issued a press release from Luxembourg. When an issue was identified with the 2017 consolidated financial statements for Parent (encompassing the financial statements for its subsidiaries, including each of the Chapter 15 Debtors), Parent issued a press release from Luxembourg notifying users of the financial statements that they should not place reliance on them. (Id.) Therefore, an interested third party that visits and reads these press releases would readily ascertain that the Parent/Constellation is headquartered in, and makes key decisions from, Luxembourg. (See id.) As an extension, it seems reasonable that—at the very least—these press releases would put interested third parties on notice that Parent/Constellation makes key decisions from Luxembourg.

In sum, while creditors were notified of the underlying operations of the Constellation Group as being in Brazil, the offering memoranda clearly express that Parent/Constellation is a Luxembourg company. Given that Luxembourg was chosen and well publicized to creditors as the jurisdiction from which ultimate board meetings, tax laws, and corporate laws would take ²⁹ Since the Recognition Hearing, the Constellation Group’s website appears to have changed. If one visits the web address discussed by Alperton for the group, qgogconstellation.com, a pop-up box appears notifying users that the investor relations portion of the website is under construction, but for more information about Constellation, it directs users to a link to theconstellation.com. The Constellation Group’s main website, which now appears to be located at theconstellation.com, loads in Portuguese but provides a link to convert the website to English. The contacts portion of this website provides Brazilian phone numbers. The website details the business of the “the Constellation” as onshore rigs, offshore rigs, and FPSOs; thus the website now predominately represents the entire Constellation Group as a Brazilian enterprise group. Its vision statement begins with the vision to “Consolidate the Company’s leadership position in Brazil.” See Constellation, qgogconstellation.com (last visited Apr. 26, 2019.).

place, the Court found that objective creditors expectations of Parent/Constellation's COMI weighs in favor of a Luxembourg COMI. (Supra § II.H.1.)

g. The Nerve Center Analysis Weighs in Favor of COMI in Luxembourg

Parent/Constellation's activities are directed, controlled and coordinated in Luxembourg. (Id.) Luxembourg therefore meets the criteria for a "principal place of business" set forth by the Supreme Court in Hertz Corp. See Hertz Corp., 130 S. Ct. at 1193-94. The Court therefore finds that Parent/Constellation's nerve center is in Luxembourg.

h. Parent/Constellation has Sufficient Ties to Brazil for Foreign Nonmain Proceeding Recognition

Although Parent/Constellation's COMI is in Luxembourg, all of its subsidiaries have substantial and ongoing business connections in Brazil. These non-transitory ties to Brazil are sufficient to recognize the Brazilian Proceeding as a foreign nonmain proceeding with respect to Parent/Constellation. Alperston does not argue otherwise.

2. Constellation Overseas' COMI is Brazil

Based upon the Court's foregoing findings of fact related to Constellation Overseas and the most relevant COMI factors, discussed below, the Court finds that Constellation Overseas' COMI is located in Brazil as a matter of law.

a. Location of the Debtor's Incorporation and Registered Office is the BVI

Constellation Overseas is incorporated in the BVI and has registered office in the BVI. (Supra § II.H.10.)

b. Location of those who Actually Manage the Debtor is Neutral

Constellation Overseas' sole director (Michael Pearson) is a resident of the Cayman Islands and a citizen of the United Kingdom. (Stipulation ¶ 2.) It benefits from the day-to-day operational management of the Brazilian Offices, which, together with those in the Panama offices, co-ordinate its operational management activities with the activities of its affiliates. (FRFOF at 66.)

The Brazilian Offices are of particular importance to the management of Constellation Overseas, because its role in the Constellation Group—in addition to acting as a holding and financing company—is to centralize treasury services. (FRFOF ¶ 143.) As holding company of several Chapter 15 Debtors and an integrated member of the Constellation Group, Constellation Overseas relies on persons employed by its affiliates, most of whom are Brazilian citizens working at Brazilian Offices. (Supra § II.B.1(c).) Although the Brazilian office’s functions are carried out predominately by Petróleo Constellation, this does not fully detract from the Brazilian office’s inclusion in the COMI consideration for Constellation Overseas or other affiliates. See In re British Am. Ins. Co., 425 B.R. at 911 (where debtor “outsourced essentially all of its central management” to a wholly-owned subsidiary in Trinidad, the debtor’s “administrative hub” was located in Trinidad); see also In re Ocean Rig UDW Inc., 540 B.R. at 697-98 (finding COMI in Cayman Islands where, inter alia, debtors were managed by a non-debtor affiliate that performed operations for the debtors in the Cayman Islands).

Because the various forms of Constellation Overseas management are so diffuse—ranging across a sole director who is a citizen of the UK, day-to-day management in Brazil, and ultimate legal control of a Parent company incorporated in Luxembourg—this factor does not strongly indicate any particular COMI.

c. The Location of the Debtor’s Primary Assets is Brazil

Constellation Overseas is the sole owner of Lone Star, Gold Star, Olinda Star, Snover, and Alpha Star. Its direct ownership of assets is therefore the equity in these companies that it holds in the BVI. Given its role as a holding company, it has no employees, officers, or customers of its own, instead its limited functions are to own equity in subsidiaries, guarantee debt and centralize certain treasury functions to support subsidiaries operating and generating revenue in Brazil. (FRFOF ¶ 150.) However, for a holding company, the location of its subsidiaries and the location of their principal assets is relevant to the COMI analysis. See In re Inversora Electrica de Buenos Aires S.A., 560 B.R. at 656. Through Constellation Overseas' holdings of the Offshore Rig Owners incorporated in the Cayman Islands and BVI, Constellation Overseas indirectly owns the Group's drilling rigs that were principally located in Brazil at the time of the chapter 15 filing. (Supra § II.B.1(a).) Additionally, the vast majority of the dividends it receives from its subsidiaries are generated in Brazil. (FRFOF ¶ 150.)

Because the assets held by Constellation Overseas are all of the Constellation Group's rigs, which with the exception of Olinda Star are located in Brazil, this factor weighs in favor of a COMI in Brazil.

d. The Location of the Majority of the Debtor's Creditors or of a Majority of Creditors who would Be Affected by the Case is Neutral Constellation Overseas has obligations under the 2024 Notes and is an obligor under the 2019 Notes. (FRFOF ¶ 166.) There is no evidence in the record regarding the location of the beneficial holders of the 2019 Notes and the 2024 Notes (except one holder of the 2019 Notes that is a Brazilian national located in New York). (FRFOF ¶ 166.) Thus, the Court draws no conclusion relevant to a finding of COMI for obligors of this debt.

Constellation Overseas is also an obligor under the Bradesco Working Capital Facility. (FRFOF ¶ 167.) Bradesco is a local Brazilian bank and the Group's ongoing unsecured working capital lender. (FRFOF ¶ 167.) The Bradesco Working Capital Facility was advanced by Bradesco's Cayman branch, but originated by principals based in Brazil. (Id.) Bradesco filed a support statement which states, inter alia, that it is a “local Brazilian bank.” (“Bradesco Support Statement,” ECF Doc. # 16 at 2.) Thus, the location of this creditor may either weigh in favor of a COMI in Brazil or the Cayman Islands.

Constellation Overseas also has obligations under the A/L/B facility. The lenders on the A/L/B facility are a syndicate of various international financial institutions, none of which are located in Luxembourg or Brazil.

Finally, Alperton is a contingent, unliquidated creditor of Constellation Overseas. (Supra § II.B.2.) Alperton’s principals and beneficial owners are Brazilian nationals and their business with Constellation Overseas is rooted in serving Brazilian customers and accessing Brazilian markets. (FRFOF ¶ 168.) Thus, for purposes of this element in the COMI analysis, the potential creditor Alperton is located in Brazil.

In sum, there is no clear location of a majority of Constellation Overseas’ creditors. This factor is neutral in the COMI analysis.

e. The Jurisdiction Whose Law Would Apply to Most Disputes Weighs Weakly in Favor of a COMI in BVI

Constellation Overseas has a primary interest in the operational business activities of the Constellation Group, which are almost exclusively centered in Brazil and, therefore, is greatly impacted by Brazil’s regulations and laws. (FRFOF ¶ 158.) By virtue of being incorporated in the BVI, Constellation Overseas is subject to the BVI’s laws, regulations, and jurisdiction, including with respect to potential corporate disputes. It is also subject to BVI law with respect to potential tax disputes. (FRFOF ¶ 158.)

New York is the governing law of all of the Prepetition Debt of the Constellation Group. (Verified Petition ¶ 20; Alperton FOF ¶ 62.) New York law also governs the Shareholders’ Agreement between Alperton and Constellation Overseas. (Alperton FOF ¶ 63.) Alperton’s claims against Constellation Overseas to be resolved by the arbitral tribunal are, therefore, New York law governed claims.³⁰ (Alpertone FOF ¶ 63.)

As an entity that is ultimately owned (though through a non-debtor intermediary) by a Parent incorporated and acting under the Law of Luxembourg, Constellation Overseas is also impacted by Luxembourg law. Thus, one could view Constellation Overseas as receiving a trickle-down effect from Luxembourg law and a bottom-up effect from Brazilian law, but the company always maintains the direct governance of BVI law. Thus, on balance, this factor likely loosely weighs in favor of a BVI COMI.

f. The Reasonable Expectations of Interested Third Parties Weighs in Favor of a COMI in Brazil

An important element for each of the BVI incorporated Chapter 15 Debtors is the support of the JPLs. The JPLs are independent, court-appointed officers who favor recognition of the Brazilian RJ Proceeding as a foreign main proceeding. (FRFOF ¶ 176.) The JPLs are officers of the BVI Court whose function is to represent the collective interests of the creditors of each debtor for which they are appointed by overseeing and protecting their interests in the restructuring process. In this way, they arguably serve as a collective voice for the creditors of the BVI debtors. The JPLs Support Statement provided that “It is the understanding of the BVI JPLs . . . that Brazil is the ‘center of main interests’ or ‘COMI’ of each of the BVI Debtors for the purposes of U.S. restructuring law.” (JPL Support Statement, ECF Doc. # 31-3 ¶ 2.)

Creditors’ reasonable expectations are a factor in COMI analysis. The Offering Memoranda are indicia of the Noteholders’ objectively ascertainable expectations. Many disclosures within the Offering Memoranda would have put Noteholders on notice that their investment was, in substance, Brazilian-centered. The Offering Memoranda also informed Noteholders that the vast majority of revenues that would repay their notes were derived in Brazil from Brazilian operations with Brazilian customers and contracts and operations governed and regulated by Brazilian laws. (FRFOF ¶ 170.) That said, Noteholders were also aware of the ultimate reality described in the Notes—that the Constellation Group is a highly integrated group of companies with its parent in Luxembourg, its main source of revenues in Brazil, and several of its subsidiaries place of incorporation in the BVI. Thus, Noteholders could have reasonably foreseen Brazilian, Luxembourg, and BVI proceedings affecting Constellation Overseas.

If anything weighs heavily for Constellation Overseas' COMI to be located in Brazil, it is the factor of creditor support. As the SPhinX Court explained, “[b]ecause their money is ultimately at stake, one generally should defer . . . to the creditors’ acquiescence in or support of a proposed COMI . . . [they] can . . . best determine how to maximize the efficiency . . . of a reorganization and ultimately, the value of the debtor.” 351 B.R. at 117. Bradesco and the Consenting A/L/B Lenders collectively hold over 60% of the Constellation Group’s debts and Constellation Overseas is an obligor and/or grantor to both the A/L/B Lenders and Bradesco. These two groups of creditors collectively, therefore, have the most at stake in these proceedings. Each of them expressed their support of COMI in Brazil. (See Bradesco Support Statement (“Bradesco’s expectation and understanding is, and always has been, that Constellation Overseas’ and its Debtor affiliates’ center of main interests is in Brazil.”); “A/L/B Lender Support Statement,” ECF. Doc. # 8 ¶ 3 (“The A/L/B Lenders have always understood and operated with the expectation that the center of main interests (‘COMI’) of each Debtor was and remains located firmly in Brazil.”).) Further, the 2024 Ad Hoc Group—who hold a majority of the 2024 Notes—also support the finding of COMI in Brazil for each of the Debtors incorporated outside of Brazil. (FRFOF ¶ 175.)

Because the offering memoranda of the notes heavily discuss the Constellation Group's economic base in Brazil, the BVI JPLs have expressed their support of a Brazilian COMI, and all creditors other than Alpterton have expressed support for Brazil as the COMI of Constellation Overseas, this factor weighs in favor of a COMI in Brazil.

g. The Nerve Center Analysis Weighs in Favor of Brazil

Constellation Overseas is a holding/financing company that centralizes treasury and financial services for certain companies in the Constellation Group. (FRFOF at 66.) It is a mid-level holding company that Parent/Constellation fully owns through a non-debtor intermediary. (Alpterton FOF ¶ 124.) In OAS, the SPV debtor's parent was the debtor's sole shareholder and had the power to "determine the outcome of any action requiring shareholder approval, including transaction with related parties, acquisitions and dispositions of assets and the timing and payment of any future dividends." In re OAS, 533 B.R. at 101-02. In noting that the COMI of the SPV depended upon the location of the nerve center of the corporate group the SPV served, the OAS Court held that the SPV debtor's COMI was with its parent. Id. Here, Constellation Overseas is an SPV that is controlled and partially managed by its parent (management is described as partial, since day-to-day operations of the Constellation Group entities takes place in Brazil and Constellation Overseas' sole director is not located in Luxembourg). Thus, the nerve-center test should point towards Luxembourg, as in OAS, since the Parent of this SPV is in Luxembourg.

Ultimately, determining the COMI of Constellation Overseas is the most difficult of the Court's recognition determinations. From the perspective of technical, top-down legal control, the Parent/Constellation, which is based in Luxembourg “controls” the company. That said, from a realistic consideration of the perspective of the true seat of Constellation Overseas, it is difficult to overlook the fact that its revenues used to pay creditors and the day-to-day management of those revenue streams come from Brazil. Essentially, the Court is asked, with respect to Constellation Overseas, to choose between the importance of high-level management or the location of the management of the generation of actual positive cash flows (as opposed to debt incursion) for the group of companies. Given the relatively equal pulls of the analysis in favor of Luxembourg or Brazil, the Court’s determination here essentially makes one of two conclusions: (1) a determination that senior management should always be considered more important in similar cases or (2) a determination that when a proper analysis of COMI has been conducted and it leads to essentially a toss-up between locales as the “ultimate-seat,” the Court should allow the weight of the relevant factors in evidence to determine the outcome. Because there appears to be such strong creditor support in favor of a Brazilian COMI and Constellation Overseas has significant management, interest, and revenue generation in Brazil, the Court finds that the weight of evidence favors a COMI in Brazil. Although Constellation/Parent indirectly owns Constellation Overseas and the Court found Constellation/Parent’s COMI to be in Luxembourg, this location of the parent company’s management should not be a strong enough factor to sway all of the other factors that point toward Brazilian recognition (particularly when half of Parent’s Board of Directors are Brazilian citizens) for Constellation Overseas.

Indeed, Alperston seeks to oversimplify the COMI analysis for the Group of companies by essentially equating the COMI of the ultimate parent as the de-facto COMI for the group. In its proposed findings of fact, where it argues that all Chapter 15 Debtors other than Petróleo Constellation have a Luxembourg COMI, Alperston asserts:

The fact that each of Constellation Overseas, the Drillship Subsidiaries and Snover has the same sole director illustrates that the decision making for these entities is not done at the Drillship Subsidiary or the Constellation Overseas levels. Instead, they are ultimately wholly owned, controlled and managed by Parent and, as a result, the COMI of each of these entities also lies with Parent in Luxembourg.

(Alpertont FOF ¶ 128.)

However, this would be fundamentally improper as a governing rule; it is simply untrue that looking at the location of the board of directors for a group of companies, in isolation, can be determinative of the COMI of each company within the group. It overlooks the important fact that board meetings are for most large companies, far less routine or central to management than the work performed by the executives of a company. It overlooks the fact that 98.7% of the Constellation Group's revenue is generated in Brazil, the vast majority of the Group's 1,200 employees are in Brazil, Brazil law regulates the operation of most of the Group's physical assets, most of the strategic day to day operations for the Group take place in Brazil, and more of Parent/Constellation's board members reside in Brazil than in Luxembourg. To suggest that the true COMI of the entire group is in Brazil based on the number and location of board members of the subsidiaries combined with the fact that the Parent's COMI is Luxembourg misinterprets the law. If anything, the case law asks the Court to look at a spectrum of factors—including non-board management, the location of assets, the expectations of creditors, the desires of creditors, and the jurisdiction with the greatest interest in the outcome etc. When the Court considers the spectrum of these factors with respect to Constellation Overseas, Brazil seems to be the real COMI.

3. Alpha Star's COMI is in Brazil

Based upon the Court's foregoing findings of fact related to Alpha Star and the most relevant COMI factors, discussed below, the Court finds that Alpha Star's COMI is located in Brazil at this time as a matter of law.

a. Location of the Debtor's Place of Incorporation is the BVI

b. The Location of those who Actually Manage the Debtor is Brazil

Alpha Star's sole director is Michael Pearson, who resides in the Cayman Islands and is a citizen of the United Kingdom. (Id.)

As discussed above, the Brazilian Offices are of particular importance to the rig-owning entities insofar as all operation and management of their rigs—their primary assets—are run from those locations. The Court found that Alpha Star's operations, including day-to-day operations are managed by the Brazilian Offices. (Id.) Alpha Star also benefits from the Constellation Group's shared management in Brazil that is responsible for its shared financial, legal, investor relations services and operational co-ordination activities. (Supra § II.B.1(b).) Petróleo Constellation, the Brazilian incorporated Chapter 15 Debtor, maintains and operates Alpha Star's sole asset—the offshore drilling rig. (Supra § II.H.2.) As such, the Court finds that the location of those who actually manage Alpha Star is Brazil.

c. Location of the Debtor's Primary Assets is in Brazil

Alpha Star's function is to own an offshore drilling rig, which is presently located in Brazil and typically operates in Brazilian waters. (Id.) This factor points towards Brazil.

d. Location of the Majority of the Debtor's Creditors or of a Majority of Creditors who would Be Affected by the Case is Indeterminate

Alpha Star has obligations under the 2024 Notes. There is no evidence in the record regarding the location of the beneficial owners of the 2024 Notes. (Id.)

e. The Jurisdiction Whose Law Would Apply to Most Disputes Weighs Moderately in Favor of Brazil

The operation of Alpha Star's Brazilian located assets are subject to Brazilian regulatory regimes (including contract law, maritime law, employee law, environmental law, and Brazilian regulatory approvals necessary for the operation of drilling rigs). (Id.)

By virtue of being incorporated in the BVI, Alpha Star is also subject to the BVI's laws, regulations, and jurisdiction, including with respect to potential corporate disputes. It is also subject to BVI law with respect to potential tax disputes. (FRFOF ¶ 158.)

Because operations are more likely to create legal disputes, this factor weighs moderately in greater favor of a COMI in Brazil.

f. Relevant International Interpretations Weigh in Favor of Brazil

As discussed in Videology, a parent company's management and the fact that a parent's board of directors operate the high-level management of a group of companies does not dictate the COMI of all subsidiaries where other evidence suggests that the subsidiaries' real operations take place elsewhere. Like Videology, most of the drill ship corporations within the Constellation Group have day-to-day management in Brazil, a location of assets in Brazil, and the group as a whole has a substantial presence in Brazil. As such, Videology reminds, with respect to all the drillship companies in the group that the location of the management of the parent holding companies should not be given undue weight. Thus, evidence showing the majority of the Constellation Group's employees and day-to-day management in Brazil weigh more heavily on the Court's COMI analysis than evidence regarding Parent/Constellation's COMI for drillship owning debtors, such as Alpha Star.

g. The Reasonable Expectations of Interested Third Parties Weighs in Favor of COMI in Brazil

The debt documents for the 2024 Notes for which Alpha Star is a guarantor explain that operations and customers are located in Brazil. The 2024 Notes documents also explain potential restructurings in Brazil. (Supra § II.H.2.) Additionally, the JPLs support a finding of COMI in Brazil. (Id.) Based on these facts, the Court finds that the reasonable expectations of interested third parties weighs in favor of recognizing Alpha Star's COMI in Brazil.

h. The Nerve Center Analysis Favors a COMI in Brazil

The central coordination of the rigs is particularly important to the nerve center concept in a business where asset ownership and asset operation are separated, as is the case here. The location of the sole director of each of these entities in the Cayman Islands is outweighed by the importance of the day-to-day management in Brazil, particularly where few factors point to the Cayman Islands and no party in interest (including the JPLs) suggests the Cayman Islands as the COMI.

The central coordination of the rigs in Brazil is also important as weighed against Alperon's suggestion that the COMI of these drillship subsidiary entities should be in Luxembourg. In addition to arguing that their sole director located in the Cayman Islands suggests that these entities should have a COMI in Luxembourg, Alperon argues that Oi supports a finding of COMI in Luxembourg for these entities, because in Oi the court considered that the larger corporate group was "headquartered and managed from the principal executive office of Oi in Rio de Janeiro Brazil." (Alperon FOF ¶ 129 (citing In re Oi Brasil, 578 B.R. at 227).) However, Alperon's own quote seems to support a COMI in Brazil for these entities in the sense that the Oi court looked to the principal executive office of the group of companies (not the location of the headquarters). There are no executives of any of the Constellation Group of companies located in Luxembourg. Rather, all of the executives of the Constellation Group are either in London or Brazil.³¹ The weight of the evidence also supports the fact that the day-to-day operations of the management, the Chief Operational Officer, Chief Commercial Officer, Chief Legal Officer, and additional staff in charge of operational finances and investor relations are located in Brazil. The Court finds that the nerve center analysis weighs in favor of a COMI in Brazil for Alpha Star.

4. Lone Star's COMI is in Brazil

Based upon the Court's foregoing findings of fact related to Lone Star and the most relevant COMI factors, discussed below, the Court finds that Lone Star's COMI is located in Brazil at this time as a matter of law.

a. Location of the Debtor's Place of Incorporation is the BVI

Lone Star is incorporated in and subject to the jurisdiction of the BVI. (Supra § II.H.5.)

b. Location of those who Actually Manage the Debtor is Brazil

Lone Star's sole director is Michael Pearson, who resides in the Cayman Islands and is a citizen of the United Kingdom. (Id.)

As discussed above, the Brazilian Offices are of particular importance to the rig-owning entities insofar as all operation and management of their rigs—their primary assets—are run from those locations. The Court found that Lone Star's operations, including day-to-day operations are managed by the Brazilian Offices. (Id.) Lone Star also benefits from the Constellation Group's shared management in Brazil that is responsible for its shared financial, legal, investor relations services and operational co-ordination activities. (Supra § II.B.1(b).) Petr6leo Constellation, the Brazilian incorporated Chapter 15 Debtor, maintains and operates Lone Star's sole asset—the offshore drilling rig. (Supra § II.H.5.) As such, the Court finds that the location of those who actually manage Lone Star is Brazil.

c. The Location of the Debtor's Primary Assets is in Brazil

Lone Star maintains and operates an offshore drilling rig. (FRFOF at 78.). The rig is located in Brazil.

d. The Location of the Majority of the Debtor's Creditors or of a Majority of Creditors who would Be Affected by the Case is Indeterminate

Lone Star has obligations under the 2024 Notes. There is no evidence in the record regarding the location of the beneficial owners of the 2024 Notes. (FRFOF at 79.)

e. The Jurisdiction Whose Law Would Apply to Most Disputes Weighs Moderately in Favor of Brazil

The Operation of its Brazilian located assets are subject to Brazilian regulatory regimes (including contract law, maritime law, employee law, environmental law, and Brazilian regulatory approvals necessary for the operation of drilling rigs.) (FRFOF at 67.)

By virtue of being incorporated in the BVI, Lone Star is subject to the BVI's laws, regulations, and jurisdiction, including with respect to potential corporate or tax disputes. (FRFOF ¶ 158.)

f. Relevant International Interpretations

As discussed in Videology, a parent company's management and the fact that a parent's board of directors operate the high-level management of a group of companies does not dictate the COMI of all subsidiaries where other evidence suggests that the subsidiaries real operations take place elsewhere. Similar to Videology, most of the drill ship corporations within the Constellation Group have day-to-day management in Brazil, a location of assets in Brazil, and the group as a whole has a substantial presence in Brazil. As such, Videology reminds, with respect to all the drillship companies in the group that the location of the management of the parent holding companies should not be given undue weight.

g. The Reasonable Expectations of Interested Third Parties

The debt documents for the 2024 Notes for which Lone Star is a guarantor explain that operations and customers are located in Brazil. The 2024 Notes documents also explain potential restructurings in Brazil. (FRFOF at 68.) Additionally, the JPLs support a finding of COMI in Brazil. (Id.)

h. The Nerve Center Analysis

The nerve center analysis for Lone Star is the same as that applied to Alpha Star, as such, the Court finds that this factor weighs in favor of COMI in Brazil.

5. Gold Star's COMI is in Brazil

Based upon the Court's foregoing findings of fact related to Gold Star and the most relevant COMI factors, discussed below, the Court finds that Gold Star's COMI is located in Brazil at this time as a matter of law.

a. The Location of the Debtor's Place of Incorporation is the BVI

Gold Star is incorporated in and subject to the jurisdiction of the BVI. (Supra § II.H.3.)

b. Location of those who Actually Manage the Debtor is Brazil

The Brazilian Offices are of particular importance to the rig-owning entities insofar as all operation and management of their rigs—their primary assets—are run from those locations.

Gold Star's day-to-day operations are managed by the Brazilian Offices, responsible for its shared financial, legal, investor relations services and operational co-ordination activities. (Id.) Petr6leo Constellation, the Brazilian incorporated Chapter 15 Debtor, maintains and operates its sole asset—the offshore drilling rig. (Id.)

The sole director is Michael Pearson, a citizen of the United Kingdom, who resides in the Cayman Islands. (Id.)

Based upon the foregoing, the Court finds that Gold Star's management is best described as located in Brazil for COMI purposes.

c. The Location of the Debtor's Primary Assets is in Brazil

Gold Star owns the Gold Star offshore drilling rig, which is not presently under contract and is being maintained in a shipyard in Brazil. (Id.) The offshore rig is operated and maintained by Debtor Petr6leo Constellation pursuant to operating and maintenance agreements, through its operational management team and operational staff located in the Brazilian Offices. (Id.) The Court finds that this factor weighs in favor of a COMI in Brazil.

d. The Location of the Majority of the Debtor's Creditors or of a Majority of Creditors who would Be Affected by the Case is Indeterminate

Gold Star has obligations under the 2024 Notes. There is no evidence in the record regarding the location of the beneficial owners of the 2024 Notes. (Id.)

e. The Jurisdiction Whose Law Would Apply to Most Disputes is Brazil

Gold Star's Brazilian located assets are subject to Brazilian regulatory regimes (including contract law, maritime law, employee law, environmental law, and Brazilian regulatory approvals necessary for the operation of drilling rigs.) (Id.) However, by virtue of being incorporated in the BVI, Gold Star is subject to the BVI's laws, regulations, and jurisdiction, including with respect to potential corporate or tax disputes. (FRFOF ¶ 158.)

On balance, the Court finds that this factor weighs in favor of a COMI in Brazil.

f. Relevant International Interpretations Favor Gold Star's COMI in Brazil

As discussed in Videology, a parent company's management and the fact that a parent's board of directors operate the high-level management of a group of companies does not dictate the COMI of all subsidiaries where other evidence suggests that the subsidiaries real operations take place elsewhere. Similar to Videology, most of the drill ship corporations within the Constellation Group have day-to-day management in Brazil, a location of assets in Brazil, and the group as a whole has a substantial presence in Brazil. As such, Videology reminds, with respect to all the drillship companies in the Constellation Group, that the location of the management of the parent holding companies should not be given undue weight.

g. The Reasonable Expectations of Interested Third Parties Weighs in Favor of Finding COMI in Brazil

The debt documents for the 2024 Notes for which Gold Star is a guarantor explain that operations and customers are located in Brazil. The 2024 Notes documents also explain potential restructurings in Brazil. (Supra § II.H.3.)

The JPLs have been appointed with respect to each of Lone Star, Gold Star, Olinda Star, and Alpha Star, and function to protect the interests of the collective creditors of each. (Supra § II.E.) They have expressed support for the Brazilian RJ Proceeding and for a finding of COMI in Brazil for each of these Debtors. (Id.)

h. The Nerve Center Analysis Weighs in Favor of Brazil

The nerve center analysis for Gold Star is the same as that applied to Alpha Star. Thus, the Court finds that the nerve center factor weighs in favor of a COMI in Brazil.

6. Star Int'l Has a COMI in Brazil

Based upon the Court's foregoing findings of fact related to Star Int'l and the most relevant COMI factors, discussed below, the Court finds that Star Int'l's COMI is located in Brazil at this time as a matter of law.

a. The Location of the Debtor's Place of Incorporation is the Cayman Islands

Star Int'l is incorporated in and subject to the jurisdiction of the Cayman Islands. (Supra § II.H.6.)

b. The Location of those who Actually Manage the Debtor is Brazil

The Brazilian Offices are of particular importance to the rig-owning entities insofar as all operation and management of their rigs—their primary assets—are run from those locations. Star Int'l's day-to-day operations are managed by the Brazilian Offices, responsible for its shared financial, legal, investor relations services and operational co-ordination activities. (Id.) Petróleo Constellation, the Brazilian incorporated Chapter 15 Debtor, maintains and operates its sole asset—the offshore drilling rig. (Id.) The location of those who manage Star Int'l is best described as Brazil for purposes of Star Int'l's COMI analysis.

c. Location of the Debtor's Primary Assets is Brazil

Star Int'l owns the Atlantic Star offshore drilling rig; as of the petition date, the Atlantic Star was under contract with Petrobras and operating in Brazilian waters. (Id.) This factor weighs strongly in favor of Star Int'l's COMI in Brazil.

d. The Location of the Majority of the Debtor's Creditors is Indeterminate

Star Int'l has obligations under the 2024 Notes. There is no evidence in the record regarding the location of the beneficial owners of the 2024 Notes. (Id.) This factor does not affect the Court's COMI analysis for Star Int'l.

e. Brazilian Law Would Apply to Most Disputes

The operation of Star Int'l's drilling rig is subject to Brazilian regulatory regimes (including contract law, maritime law, employee law, environmental law, and Brazilian regulatory approvals necessary for the operation of drilling rigs.) (Id.) Additionally, by virtue of being incorporated in the Cayman Islands, Star Int'l is subject to the Cayman Island's laws, regulations, and jurisdiction, including with respect to potential corporate or tax disputes. (FRFOF ¶ 158.)

The Court finds that this factor weighs in favor of a COMI in Brazil for Star Int'l.

f. Relevant International Interpretations Weigh in Favor of COMI in Brazil

As discussed in Videology, a parent company's management and the fact that a parent's board of directors operate the high-level management of a group of companies does not dictate the COMI of all subsidiaries where other evidence suggests that the subsidiaries real operations take place elsewhere. Similar to Videology, most of the drill ship corporations within the Constellation Group have day-to-day management in Brazil, a location of assets in Brazil, and the group as a whole has a substantial presence in Brazil. As such, Videology reminds, with respect to all the drillship companies in the Constellation Group that the location of the management of the parent holding companies should not be given undue weight.

g. The Reasonable Expectations of Interested Third Parties Weigh in Favor of COMI in Brazil

The debt documents for the 2024 Notes, for which Star Int'l is a guarantor, explain that the offshore drilling rigs operate "mainly in Brazil" and were currently chartered mainly to Petrobras. (Supra § II.H.6.) The 2024 Notes documents also explain potential restructurings in Brazil. (Id.) Additionally, Star Int'l operated a drilling rig that was under contract with Petrobras and operating in Brazilian waters as of the petition date. (Id.) The Court therefore finds that this factor weighs in favor of COMI in Brazil for Star Int'l.

h. The Nerve Center Analysis Weighs in Favor of COMI in Brazil

The nerve center analysis with respect to Star Int'l is the same as that applied with respect to Alpha Star, as above. Thus, this factor weighs in favor of a COMI in Brazil.

7. Snover's COMI is in Brazil

Based upon the Court's foregoing findings of fact related to Snover and the most relevant COMI factors, discussed below, the Court finds that Snover's COMI is located in Brazil at this time as a matter of law.

a. The Location of the Debtor's Place of Incorporation is the BVI

Snover is incorporated in and subject to the jurisdiction of the BVI. (Supra § II.H.7.)

b. The Location of those who Actually Manage the Debtor is Brazil

Petróleo Constellation maintains and operates Snover's Onshore Drilling Rigs from Brazil. (Id.) Snover's rigs are all located, operated, and maintained in Brazil. (Id.) For this reason, despite two members of the Constellation Group's executive management being located in London and its sole director being located in the Cayman Islands, the Court found that the location of those who actually manage Snover are best described as located in Brazil. (Id.)

c. The Location of the Debtor's Primary Assets is Brazil

Snover's only assets are three Onshore Drilling Rigs (the QG-V, QG-VIII, and QG-IX). Each of these Onshore Drilling Rigs is located in Brazil. (Id.) As decided above, the Court finds that Snover's assets are located in Brazil for purposes of COMI. (Id.)

d. The Location of the Majority of the Debtor's Creditors or of a Majority of Creditors who would Be Affected by the Case is Indeterminate

The location of the majority of creditors is unclear and does not affect the COMI analysis of Snover. (Id.)

e. Brazilian Law Would Apply to Most Disputes

Snover's active onshore rig is operated and maintained by debtor Petróleo Constellation. Any actions related to the rig or its operations, as well as Snover's non-operational onshore rigs would therefore be subject to Brazilian law. The Court therefore finds that the jurisdiction whose law would apply to most disputes is Brazil.

f. Relevant International Interpretations Favor Finding Management in Brazil

As discussed in Videology, a parent company's management and the fact that a parent's board of directors operate the high-level management of a group of companies does not dictate the COMI of all subsidiaries where other evidence suggests that the subsidiaries real operations take place elsewhere. Similar to Videology, most of the drill ship corporations within the Constellation Group have day-to-day management in Brazil, a location of assets in Brazil, and the group as a whole has a substantial presence in Brazil. (Supra § II.B.1(b).) As such, Videology reminds, with respect to all the drillship companies in the group that the location of the management of the parent holding companies should not be given undue weight. Thus, for Snover and other entities owning drillships, the location of the day-to-day management in Brazil should be given greater weight than the location of Parent/Constellation's registered office.

g. The Reasonable Expectations of Interested Third Parties

Parent/Constellation's offering memoranda for the 2024 Notes, for which Snover is a guarantor, explain that operations and customers are located in Brazil. The 2024 Notes documents also explain potential restructurings in Brazil. (Supra § II.H.7.) Additionally, the JPLs support a finding of COMI in Brazil. (Id.) The Court therefore found that the reasonable expectations of interested third parties, here creditors or proxies for creditors interests, weighed in favor of finding Snover's COMI in Brazil. (Id.)

h. The Nerve Center Analysis Weighs in Favor of COMI in Brazil

The nerve center analysis for Snover points strongly in favor of Brazil because it is the owner of three onshore rigs located in Brazil, with operation and management of those rigs emanating from Brazil.

8. Petróleo Constellation's COMI is in Brazil

Petróleo Constellation is an entity organized under the laws of Brazil with its registered office at the Rio Office in Rio de Janeiro, Brazil. (Supra § II.H.9.) No objections were filed to the recognition of the Brazilian RJ Proceeding for Petróleo Constellation, and Alpertson does not object to foreign main recognition in respect of Petróleo Constellation. (Id.) No evidence has been submitted to suggest that the COMI of Petróleo Constellation is located anywhere other than its registered office. (Id.) Thus, the COMI presumption holds with respect to this Chapter 15 Debtor. The Court holds that Petróleo Constellation's COMI is in Brazil.

H. Discretionary Relief that May be Applied to Foreign Debtors after Recognition as a Non-Foreign Main Proceeding

Debtors who are recognized as participating in foreign nonmain proceedings may be afforded nearly identical relief as those recognized as operating in foreign main proceedings. Section 1521(a) outlines the discretionary relief a court may order upon recognition of a foreign proceeding, whether recognized as main or nonmain. 11 U.S.C. § 1521(a).

In Winsway Enterprises Holdings Limited, this Court recognized a proceeding in Hong Kong as a foreign nonmain proceeding. (See Order Granting Motion for Related Relief, the “Winsway Order,” Case No. 16-10833, ECF Doc. # 22.). The Court recognized the Hong Kong proceeding of the BVI incorporated debtor as a foreign nonmain proceeding but fully recognized the scheme of arrangement that was entered by the Hong Kong Court. (Winsway Order ¶ 2.)³² The Winsway Order went on to provide that certain aspects of the scheme (such as creditor releases) would be “given full force and effect within the territorial jurisdiction of the United States in accordance with their terms and to the maximum extent enforceable under Hong Kong law;” (Winsway Order ¶ 4.) The Winsway Order went on to clarify that all scheme creditors would be permanently enjoined from, inter alia, “commencing any suit, action or proceeding in the territorial jurisdiction of the United States to settle any dispute which arises out of any provision of the Scheme and/or relating to the Scheme.” (Winsway Order ¶ 5(b).)

Thus, Parent/Constellation, although currently recognized as operating in a foreign nonmain proceeding, may receive nearly identical relief as the relief afforded to the Chapter 15 Debtors whose COMI was determined to be in Brazil. The only discretionary relief granted so far is to extend the stay to the Parent/Constellation within the territorial jurisdiction of the United States. Of course, the issues of what, if any, further discretionary relief should be granted to the Chapter 15 Debtors will have to await further action in the Brazilian RJ Proceeding.

³² The Winsway Order states, “The Scheme and the Sanction Order entered by the Hong Kong Court are granted comity and entitled to full force and effect against all entities (as that term is defined in section 101(15) of the Bankruptcy Code) in accordance with their terms, and such terms shall be binding and fully enforceable on all creditors whether or not they actually agreed to be bound by the Scheme or participated in the Hong Kong Proceeding.”

III. CONCLUSION

In sum, as set forth above, the Court grants recognition as a foreign main as to the following Chapter 15 Debtors: Petróleo Constellation, Constellation Overseas, Alpha Star, Gold Star, Lone Star, Star Int'l, and Snover.

The Court grants recognition as a foreign nonmain proceeding as to Parent/Constellation.

The Court reaches no decision about recognition as to Olinda Star and Arazi since the Brazil courts have ordered the Brazilian RJ Proceeding dismissed as to those two entities.

A determination of the COMI may be revisited and the Court may change its COMI determination if parties provide new evidence of changed circumstances of any of the Chapter 15 Debtors.

IT IS SO ORDERED.
